POSTAL SERVICE.

Wanamaker's Forthcoming Report.

He Still Adheres to His Postal Telegraph Scheme,

And Thinks Postal Saving Banks a Good Thing.

One Cent Postage Is Yet in the Future.

The Postmaster General, Not Discouraged by Defeat at the Hands of Republicans, Will Ask Democrats to Help Him Along.

New York, Oct. 16.—The Herald's Washington special says: Postmaster General Wanamaker is collecting the data for his annual report to congress. So far as I can ascertain the special feature of the report will be similar to those of last year.

During the past year he has been making experiments in one or two branches of the service and he is likely to make a special point for their development.

His postal telegraph scheme is not dead, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding. A republican congress—the Fifty-first—sat down on it. Mr. Wanamaker now purposes asking a democratic house to look into it and investigate the arguments and figures he is now preparing in its support. Much the same arguments will be used with the present congress as those which proved ineffectual with the last.

The same may be said of the postal savings bank. Mr. Wanamaker is thoroughly convinced that one of the most beneficial additions to the present postal service would be the establishment of savings banks at postoffices.

His experience and reports from the country generally during the last year convince him more thoroughly than ever of its practicability. The demand for such institutions in farming districts and small villages where there are no regular banks has been growing steadily.

His recommendations in this line will be similar to those of last year when he urged the establishment of postal savings banks in states having no laws regulating savings banks and in any other states upon petition of a considerable number of residents in any one locality.

He will recommend that there be no more than one bank for every ten miles of area and that the interest paid on deposits be one-half of one per cent. lower than that paid by private bankers.

With regard to penny postage the postmaster general is not so enthusiastic as he was. While in his recommendations he will not recede from the position taken in his former reports he will not lay special stress on this radical change. He is not very sanguine of persuading congress to appropriate $15,000,000 or $20,000,000 for the deficit that would occur in the department in case the reduction was made.

The argument that a reduction of the postage one-half would increase the letter business is met at the department by the estimate that a largely increased force would be necessary to do the business and consequently the expenses of the office would be correspondingly increased. The postmaster-general is anxious to see the penny postage adopted, but congress will have to make the change possible by increased appropriations.

The two pricipal points that will be dwelt on in Mr. Wanamaker's recommendations to the next congress are the extension of the free delivery system and the improvement of the inspection service. Last congress appropriated $10,000 with which to try the free delivery experiment.

The postmaster-general is now engaged in figuring out results from these localities. As far as they go they indicate the success of the plan. He anticipates that the increase of business and revenue in country towns will about balance the expenditures made in the experiment.

With the results in hand he purposes going before the congress and asking for assistance in extending the free delivery throughout the country. The amount of money needed to put the system in operation has not been estimated, but Mr. Wanamaker feels justified in guaranteeing that the increase of revenues will recompense the government for the necessary outlay.

The other point, the improvement of the inspection service, Mr. Wanamaker considers one of the most important features of the postoffice work. He petitioned the last congress to authorize the division of the country into supervisors' districts. This was denied him. He will probably ask the democratic house for the same authority, but as this would create another army of employes, his chances of success are not encouraging. The idea he has is the better instruction of postmasters in their duties.

AT THE STORM'S MERCY.

The Atlanta Made a Noble Struggle.

Washed by Waves and Tossed by Wind, the Ship Comes Into Port Right Side Up.

New York, Oct. 16.—The United States steamship Atlanta anchored in the bay here last night, after the severest struggle with the elements that any ship of the new navy has experienced. The vessel left here early last Sunday morning for Assateague, to help the wrecked Despatch.

Near the Delaware breakwater, she encountered a terrible gale and drifted at the mercy of the wind and sea, only 20 miles from the coast, until daylight Wednesday morning.

On Monday night her decks were swept by terrific seas, which smashed the port hawse hole, cracked the sheathing of the main deck and flooded the berth deck.

An enormous wave breaking on her quarter flooded the double compartment between the hold and berth deck. This deck is divided by a partition into two holds. In one of them was stored a quantity of Japan dryer, the basis of which is naphtha. The pumps were rigged to relieve the vessel of water and a light was lowered, when the naphtha gas exploded.

F. C. James and James Monahan were badly burned about the hands, neck and arms, and are fatally injured by breathing the ignited vapor.

The others injured are Henry Helja, Alois Lowac, J. E. Eli and Joseph Merriam. All were severely burned. On Wednesday the storm abated and the vessel was run into Delaware breakwater.

Capt. John W. Phillips said that in a storm such as he had never witnessed for severity the ship behaved splendidly, and he believes the Atlanta capable of weathering any storm and of standing a gale which would send many an inferior ship to the bottom.

LET RAUM DOWN EASILY.

Report That a New Place Has Been Found for Him.

Washington, Oct. 16.—Secretary Noble gave the impression to some of the officials in the interior department to-day that during his visit to Chicago he fixed things up so that Commissioner Raum will before long, though probably not before election, withdraw from the pension office.

Noble saw Raum frequently while they were both attending the meeting of the army of the Tennessee, and is believed to have made a satisfactory arrangement with him and for him.

Inasmuch as Raum's financial straits are as ever, and he has nothing in the way of private business to fall back upon, it was necessary to his peaceable withdrawal to provide an income for him.

This it is believed Secretary Noble, acting for the president as well as for himself, has been able to induce the world's fair to do by making a place for Raum, so that he will go out without further protest from his friends—the claim agents.

The president's chief difficulty now is to find a successor for Raum who will redeem the reputation of the pension office. It has been suggested that, if he could persuade Gen. Henry V. Boynton to take the place, it would be a long step toward this much desired result.

COUNTY DEMOCRACY.

New York, Oct. 16.—The county democracy has named the following ticket: For judge of the supreme court, Francis M. Scott; for judge of the superior court, Meyer S. Isaacs; for judge of the court of common pleas, Roger A. Pryor; for judges of the city court, Edward Groose and Edward J. McGean; for coroners, Herman W. Hildebrand, Dennis Burns and Dr. Charles M. Lynch.

ONE WILL DIE.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 16.—Of the eleven men hurt by the explosion of an engine at South St. Paul last night, all are doing well at the hospital this morning except John May, who will probably die.

THROWN FROM A WINDOW.

A Brutal Murder Committed in Denver.

Men Who Formerly Stood High in that Western City Locked Up Under a Serious Charge.

Denver, Col., Oct. 16.—Whisky and jealousy were the causes of a tragedy here which cost one life and will probably land two men in the penitentiary for a long term of years.

The notorious Jim Conners and Mike Ryan were drinking in a saloon after midnight and Conners, being goaded and teased by his friends over the fact that his mistress, a Mrs. Dalcoff, had deserted him for C. J. Finnicum, became so enraged that he took Ryan, and going to Mrs. Dalcoff's rooms, broke open the door and found her with Finnicum, to whom she was engaged to be married.

Finnicum was ordered to dress, after which he was knocked down, tied hand and foot, a gag placed over his mouth and then carried to the window and thrown into the alley.

On the way to the ground, three stories below, his head struck a projecting stone, cleaving a portion of the skull. When picked up by the ambulance a few minutes later it was found that his jaw was broken, his eyes both out and the skull torn open until the brain was exposed. He was taken to the hospital, where he died. He leaves a wife and two children in Center Oak, Pa.

Conners and Ryan were immediately arrested and locked up, and Walter Conway is held in bail as a witness.

The prominence of the offenders made the case an unusually interesting one. Ryan, until lately, was one of the officers in the fire department, but is now held in bail for drugging and robbing a foreigner of $5,000. Conway, a personal friend of the two, has for several years been president of the board of aldermen until the present democratic administration put him out.

Conners was first lieutenant of police at the same time Ryan and Conway were in office, but is now under sentence for attempting to hold up and rob a Rio Grande express train near Grand Junction three years ago. He has his liberty upon a supersedeas, awaiting the action of the supreme court.

BLAINE'S HEALTH,

Mr. Hale, of Maine, Has Been Interviewed.

He Goes to Washington with a Batch of Very Discouraging News for B. Harrison.

Boston, Oct. 16.—Senator Hale, of Maine, who passed through here for New York, said that Secretary Blaine is looking and feeling remarkably well. "You would hardly know him," he added, "for the same person that passed through Boston last June. He eats well and sleeps well and his mind is as active and alert as ever.

"He passed some time with me at Ellsworth on his journey from Bar Harbor to Augusta, and his chief reason for going to his old home was that his house in the latter city was better adapted for an October residence than that at Bar Harbor."

Referring to the recent reports that Mr. Blaine had suffered from paralysis, Senator Hale observed that he thought a good many men might be largely benefited by a similar ailment. "No," he added, "it is all nonsense."

STORMS IN THE NORTHWEST

They Have Caused Less Damage Than Reported.

Some Scheming Speculator Has Been at the Bottom of the Alarming Reports Sent Out.

Duluth, Minn., Oct. 15.—The weather was still rainy in the northwest yesterday. It is thought here, however, that the stories of damage are magnified a great deal.

F. B. Swift, a big farmer of Otter Tail county, is here and says that reports of damage from rain are greatly exaggerated for the purpose of allowing Minneapolis people to unload a great quantity of their wheat at high prices.

There are thousands of acres of wheat in Otter Tail county in shock and he has not yet discovered an instance where the wheat is spoiling.

State Inspector Clausen said: "I am inclined to believe the situation is not so bad as reports make out in localities. I suppose the wheat is considerably damaged and the news about those localities is made to apply to the whole northwest."

TRADE WITH MEXICO.

The Amended Tariff on Wheat and Wheat Flour.

Washington, Oct. 16.—Mr. Thomas Ryan, United States minister to Mexico, has sent a dispatch to the state department, enclosing a decree by President Diaz of Mexico, amending the existing toll tariff on wheat and wheat flour.

As amended the tariff law reads: "Wheat flour or wheat grain for threshing, 100 kilograms $1.45; wheat flour in granule, all classes, 100 kilograms, $1.10; wheat, that which is introduced into the city of Mexico, gross weight 100 kilograms, 90 cents."

REDUCED THE WAGES.

A Big Cut in a Highly Protected Concern.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 16.—After an all day conference yesterday between General Manager Schwab, of the Edgar Thomson steel works, Braddock, and the Converting mill employes, a new scale was settled upon. Formerly the steel blowers made about $200 a month, but they will now make about $120; repairers $104 instead of $145, and vesselmen $165 instead of $230. The other employes will be presented with the same scale.

AT BOWLING GREEN.

Farmers Turn Out to Hear Gov. Campbell.

Grand Reception in a Republican Stronghold.

Ohio's Chief Executive Continues His Wonderful Campaign—He Will Push His Libel Suits.

Bowling Green, Oct. 16.—(Special)—The republican town of Bowling Green, and the republican county of Wood, paid a handsome tribute to the public services of Gov. Campbell to-day, without regard to party.

The business houses and residences of the town were profusely decorated and on his arival he was met at the station by an immense crowd.

His campaign through the democratic counties of the northwest is unprecedented, but his reception at Bowling Green to-day rather capped the climax.

Delegations were present from all the townships and several of them came in with traction engines drawing trains of farm wagons.

The meeting is being held in the open air.

In regard to the New York Recorder's retraction of the Ralph Wilkinson charges Gov. Campbell said the mere retraction was not sufficient. He demanded the name of the person who furnished the Recorder the basis for the publication, and unless this was forthcoming he would push the libel suit to the very end.

It is thought there will be some interesting disclosures in the near future.

HEAD END COLLISION.

A Passenger Train Runs Over a Freight.

Two Persons Killed and a Number Injured on the Pan Handle This Morning.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 16.—The limited express and a freight train on the Panhandle railroad came together head foremost at Mingo Junction, near Steubenville, O., at 6:15 o'clock this morning. Two men were killed and four injured.

Killed—William Marshall, brakeman, Columbus, O., and the express messenger.

Injured—A. Stanley, postal clerk, Cincinnati, O.; A. R. Keys, postal clerk, Trinway, O.; W. I. Davis, postal clerk, London, O.; Robert McPherson, baggagemaster, Columbus, O.

McPherson was not badly hurt and came east with his train. The others were brought to Steubenville and sent home on No. 9 from that point.

The cause of the accident is not exactly known, as the piece of track known as the gauntlet, where the accident occurred, is said to be so protected that only one train can be on it at a time.

DIVIDED ON LABOR LAW.

The Sydney Government Falls on the Eight-Hour Law.

London, Oct. 16.—A dispatch from Sidney, N. S. W., says: In parliament yesterday the government opposed a motion to the effect that a bill introduced by it regulating the mining laws should be returned to the committee which had considered it, in order that an eight-hour clause which it contained might be stricken out.

Notwithstanding the utmost efforts of the government's supporters the motion was carried by a vote of 49 to 41, and an immediate adjournment was had.

In consequence of this defeat the cabinet will probably resign.

FELL TO HER DEATH.

Washington, Oct. 16.—Mrs. Mary Preston, mother of Herbert A. Preston, well known for 20 years as a member of the Washington bureau of the New York Herald, fell down a stairway in her residence last night and died within five minutes. Her neck was dislocated. Mrs. Preston was in her eightieth year.

THE GALE CONTINUES.

The Irish Sea Is Greatly Agitated.

Many Storm Beaten Craft Reach a Harbor Only to Meet Disaster There.

London, Oct. 16.—To-day the gale is blowing with increased fury in the Irish sea. Old coastguard men say that never before have they seen such seas. Many of the stormbeaten vessels which during the past two days succeeded in making some harbor of refuge, are now laboring so heavily under the force of the renewed gale that they are dragging their anchors and fouling each other. A number of these vessels are in danger of being driven ashore. A telegram from Portland says that a Dutch man-of-war has been in collision off Portland Hill. The other vessel was the British bark Mysterious Star of Sunderland. Both vessels were greatly damaged.

BLAINE'S RETURN.

Washington, Oct. 16.—A private letter received here from Augusta, Me., says Secretary Blaine will return to Washington between October 25 and November 1. The letter says his health is sufficiently improved to enable him to assume his duties at the state department immediately on his arrival.

ATTACHMENT GRANTED.

New York, Oct. 16.—Judge O'Brien has granted an attachment against the property at No. 259 Canal street, belonging to Max Silberstein, a handkerchief dealer, for $18,910.57 in favor of Brown Bros. & Co., bankers, Wall street.

POLITICS IN OLD ERIE.

The Farmers Are Looking Up the Sheep Question

And Will Ask McKinley to Explain.

What Prominent Men in Huron Think of the Outcome of the Present Campaign.

Huron, Oct. 16.—(Special)—The beautiful town of Huron is no less beautifully located on a stretch of ground which rapidly inclines from the lake until it becomes very broken and hilly.

The surrounding country is not alone a splendid farming region, but is admirably adapted for grazing purposes. Ten years or more ago there were more sheep produced in Huron township than in any other portion of Erie county, and flocks were to be seen "upon a thousand hills."

The flocks are not there now, for the vicious republican tariffs have affected the sheep-raising industry here as in other parts of the county. Instead of protecting and stimulating the sheep-raising industry the tariff has killed it, and has virtually prohibited sheep growing. Farmers cannot afford to raise sheep for the money they get nowadays for their wool, and consequently they have turned their attention in another direction.

Major McKinley cannot explain why this state of affairs exists, in a satisfactory manner. Theories will not do here. The actual conditions belie them. The assesor's returns from Huron township for the last ten years show a steady decrease in the number of sheep each year, and yet in the face of these figures McKinley insists that protection protects the farmer—and the sheep.

The Bee talked for a few moments with William Martin, a prominent citizen of Huron, who said:

"I should judge that sheep raising has fallen off at least 40 per cent. in this locality in the last ten years. I know this from an intimate acquaintance with prominent sheep raisers, and frequent conversations with them on the subject. One of the largest sheep producers in this locality is Wint. Wright, who in past years made plenty of money on wool. He had large flocks of sheep and did nothing else but look after them. Since wool has become so cheap, however, he has engaged in other ventures and wool growing is now only a secondary matter with him. At present prices, land can be more profitably used than in raising sheep."

Mr. Martin's opinion is a general one in the locality about Huron.

The campaign here is going along very quietly, but the township is democratic and a gain will be made here over the usual majority. Judge Grayson Mills is very strong and will run away ahead of his ticket, owing to a fight which is being made on Malcolm Kelly, his opponent. People here claim that Kelly is more of a friend to monopolists and corporations than he is to the people, and in support of this proposition they cite the celebrated marsh cases.

These cases were of much importance to hunters, farmers and fishermen all along the lake and they were decided by Kelly, who was appointed referee, against the people and in favor of a corporation.

The status of these cases is as follows: A vast marsh, from four to five miles in width, and extending along the lake shore to a point twelve or fifteen miles east of Sandusky, is in season a veritable hunter's paradise. About the middle of this marsh is a deep channel running parallel with the lake. The men who owned farms claimed that their land extended to the middle of the Black Channel, as it is called. When the Sandusky Shooting club was organized, it purchased of a man named Wentworth, the entire marsh, regardless of the claims of the farmers. Wentworth was one of the legal heirs of the man who formerly owned the entire territory in that vicinity. Messrs. Dildine, Galloway, Hine, et al., who purchased the marsh, are Sandusky people, and immediately after their acquisition they put up signs warning the public that no shooting would be allowed on the marsh.

Farmers who had deeds claiming the center of the Black Channel as the limit of their landed interests paid no attention to these signs, but hunted there as usual. Many arrests for trespass were made at the instigation of the sporting club, but no convictions could be secured. Boys were frequently arrested for trapping muskrats in the marsh, taken to Sandusky, thrown in jail over night, brought before the probate judge, tried to a jury and acquitted. It was impossible to convict them.

Finally a number of suits for trespass were brought by the club against J. Gorey, J. Steiner, C. Shepperd, E. Conger, Henry Mattern, Allen Bardshire and other prominent farmers in this locality. In several instances the territory claimed by the club was solid ground and had been or could be farmed by the owners.

As Judge DeWitt's brother was a member of the sporting club he refused to try the cases, and Malcolm Kelly was appointed referee with power to finally adjudicate the question as to who were the rightful owners of the marsh, and who had a legal right to shoot ducks and trap muskrats there.

Kelly took charge of all the papers in the case and proceeded to make an investigation. He visited the marsh as the guest of the sporting club, and after being presumably dined by them, and shown over the marsh in their boats, decided in favor of the club and against the farmers.

The decision aroused much indignation and the farmers and hunters felt that they were unrighteously deprived of certain rights and certain lands by the finding.

They now have a chance to get even with Mr. Kelly, and will cut him right and left in Huron township. The case set a precedent and Kelly will be spotted by every hunter and fisherman along the lakes. The marsh in question is known as the West Huron marsh, and the facts cited above are matters of record. Mr. Kelly cannot explain away his action in this case satisfactorily to the people whose rights he took away.

The building of the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad into Huron has been a godsend to the place. This company ships vast amounts of coal from this port, and receives much ore, which is forwarded to the furnaces along its line. The town is having a substantial growth, and has increased something like 900 in two years.

The principal industry here is the fish business, and hundreds of men are engaged at it.

Hon. H. L. Stewart has been here looking over the ground and finds that democrats are enthusiastic and think of nothing but victory this fall. He will get the full party vote in Erie county and will come out of it with a splendid majority.

The democrats have a splendid ticket up in Erie county. The ticket is the strongest it has put up for years, and the republican ticket is the weakest.

Molter for representative will be re-elected. Gov. Campbell is a great favorite here and will be given a magnificent reception Saturday night at Biemiller's opera house, at Sandusky. A big delegation will go down to hear him from Huron.

SUBSIDIZED LINE.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 16.—The French government and the colonial government of St. Pierre have just announced that a subsidy of $14,000 a year will be given to a line of steamers to carry mails and passengers to and from St. Pierre and Halifax. It is also proposed to offer a handsome subsidy to a steamer to run to and from St. Pierre, Boston and New York.

KILLED BY THE CARS.

Washington, Oct. 16.—George M[illegible], aged 35 years, an engineer on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, was struck by a train of that road yesterday and instantly killed. He tripped over a signal wire and fell in front of the engine.

STOLEN WHEN A CHILD.

A Woman's Strange and Romantic Story.

Kept a Prisoner in Switzerland's Mountains.

She Returns to This Country to Hunt for Her Parents Only to be Persecuted by Unknown People.

New York, Oct. 16.—A romantic story of the alleged abduction of a child of supposed wealthy New Yorkers, of her isolation in a lonely spot in the wild mountains of Switzerland, of her subsequet escape from her cruel keepers, of her return to this city and persecution here by mysterious personages, has come to light through the following advertisement, which has appeared repeatedly in one of the local German newspapers:

A lady who was abducted when a child, about thirty years ago, from New York city or vicinity, and taken to Switzerland, seeks her parents. Information may be obtained from Mrs. Enderlitz, No. 409 East Fiftieth street.

A reporter found Mrs. Enderlitz in a small, neatly kept room on the second floor at that number, with two pretty, dark-eyed and swarthy-looking children tugging at her skirts and gazing at the intruder with awed astonishment. Mrs. Enderlitz said that she was the heroine of the story vaguely revealed in the advertisement, and then narrated her romantic history as she had gathered it here and there by bits and woven into a coherent and plausible whole.

She says she has a vague remembrance of having been carried away from her parents by strangers and taken across a wide expanse of restless water. She was a child at the time, perhaps 2 years of age.

When she had grown up so that she could appreciate her surroundings she found herself in the hands of rough and cruel peasants, away down in the dale of an isolated mountain in Switzerland.

The nearest village was about five miles off, and could be reached only by a primitive, dangerous path along a steep mountain peak.

Thither the young girl had often to wander in winter time through deep snows, with a basket full of butter and eggs to take to a merchant. While on these errands she picked up from villagers now and then slender threads relating to her sudden mysterious appearace in the household of her keeper and of occasional visits to the villa of a well-dressed foreigner, supposedly an American, who would hold conferences with her mountain keeper and give him money.

It was common gossip among the villagers that the Durrs (that was the supposed name of her supposed parents) were not her parents at all, as they had given out to the village pastor when he was called upon to christen her Annie.

Besides this, Annie heard snatches of conversation between her supposed parents now and then regarding her and the money the foreign gentleman was sending at intervals from New York and other points in the vicinity for the keeping of Annie.

There came a time when this board money ceased to come, and the peasants' treatment of Annie became more and more cruel. One day Durr told her that he would not keep her longer, and came out with the story that she was the daughter of some rich American.

Annie was 15 years old when she left her bondage and started out into the world with the vague hope of finding her real parents. She worked for awhile in hotels where American tourists sojourn, hoping against hope that she might learn something of her parentage through them.

About ten years ago she met an honest, industrious young painter of the name of Dominick Enderlitz, who was ambitious to pursue his luck in "the promised land" of America.

Annie encouraged Dominick's attention to her and eventually accepted his offer of marriage. They came to this city, but lack of money prevented Mrs. Enderlitz from at once instituting the search for her supposedly wealthy parents. About two years ago she inserted the first advertisement in a newspaper.

To the amazement of the honest couple, instead of getting an inkling of the identity and whereabouts of the sought-for parents, they found themselves persecuted by mysterious persons who seemed to be intent upon stealing one of their pretty dark-eyed children.

Late one evening, upon leaving the Atlantic Garden, on the Bowery, where they had gone with their two children to spend a pleasant evening, Mrs. Enderlitz found herself followed by a well-dressed, closely-veiled woman. Her husband was a few paces ahead of her, carrying the younger of their two children, when the veiled woman rushed silently up to her and tried to snatch from her little Annie, who was walking at her side, holding her hand. After that similar attempts to steal one of the children were made several times at their house.

Mrs. Enderlitz in her despair finally went to Inspector Byrnes for protection. The Inspector advised her to move and never allow her children to run around on the street. The advice has been implicitly followed. Mrs. Enderlitz believes that these attempts to abduct one of her children have some mysterious relation to her efforts to find her parents, but she fondly entertains the vague hope that she will be in the end successful and that a big fortune will yet come to her.

She tells her romantic story in an intelligent, coherent and thoroughly plausible fashion. Neighbors corroborate the story of the attempted abduction of her children, and fully believe in Mrs. Enderlitz' other tale of her own abduction.

A MONUMENT TO GRADY.

It Will be Unveiled in Atlanta Next Week.

All Business Will be Suspended and the Day Given Up to Honoring the Memory of the Departed.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 16.—The bronze image of Henry W. Grady has been placed in position and preparations are nearly completed for the unveiling, which takes place on Wednesday next, October 21.

Alexander Doyle, the sculptor, superintended the work of placing the statue. The platform in front of the custom house, is in course of erection and a grand rush is being made to obtain tickets for the several thousand seats that it will contain.

The monument committee has issued a manifesto acknowledging the universal co-operation extended it and paying a tribute to Mr. Doyle for his work. "He knew Mr. Grady, whom to know was to love," says the manifesto.

Public and private business in Atlanta will be suspended during the ceremonies.

The committee which is on its way to Albany to bring Gov. Hill and his party to Atlanta will leave Albany Sunday and reach Atlanta Tuesday afternoon, stopping en route on Monday at Richmond, Va., where the governor is expected to make a speech before democratic clubs.

In the party will be Gov. Hill, Gen. Slocum, of Brooklyn, John A. McCall and Gen. F. P. Earle, of New York, Gen. Austin Lathrop, Asst. Adjt.-Gen. McEwen, and others.

On the night of their arrival the party will be tendered a reception by Gov. Northen at the executive mansion.

"Save who can!" was the frantic cry of Napoleon to his army at Waterloo. Save health and strength while you can, by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, is advice that applies to all, both young and old. Don't wait until disease fastens on you; begin at once.

KISSING RATHER RISKY.

Slavs Bite Off a Piece of Tongue and Think it Funny.

Uniontown, Pa., Oct. 16.—John Kiskoworker, a Slav, living at Leith Coke Works, had an inch of his tongue bitten off yesterday by another Slav while they were endeavoring to kiss each other. All were drinking beer. It is a very common thing for men of this class to kiss each other. A physician was called and the tongue was trimmed into shape for talking purposes. The unfortunate man carries the piece of the member bitten off in his pocket, and shows it to his friends.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 16.—The sergeant-at-arms has been instructed by the senate to subpoena Wm. Livsey, late cashier of the treasury of the sinking fund commission.

St. Johns, N. F., Oct. 16.—The report that the cattle ship City of Rome had been wrecked is a fake pure and simple, which was perpertated by a half-witted cowboy.

THE KAISER IS ANGRY.

Somebody Has Attacked His Character.

Sensational Leaflets Circulated in Berlin.

The German Ruler Is Held Up to Ridicule and Warned Not to Start a Fire That Would Cosume Himself and House.

Berlin, Oct. 16.—The police are anxiously hunting for the author of a scurrulous leaflet which has been mysteriously circulated and which contains an offensive attack on the kaiser, charging him with dissipation and immorality and intimating that he is of unsound mind.

The writer also holds up to ridicule the kaiser's alleged idea of ever equalling his ancestor, the great Frederick, and the article closes with advice to the kaiser to be careful about starting a conflagration to consume himself and his house.

Such bold words are seldom heard in Germany, much less printed, and the author would be sentenced to a long term of imprisonment could he be discovered.

The kaiser is said to know no forgiveness for people who offend his pride and ambition, and the police know that he appreciates and rewards the men who make the desired arrests.

ROBBED OF THEIR REVENGE

A Hunted Italian Meets Death on the Rail.

Believed That He Had Been Marked by the Mafia and That He Was Dogged to Death.

Atlanta, Ga. Oct. 16.—In a pauper's lot at Westview cemetery was buried the body of an unknown Italian who is supposed to have been fleeing from the wrath of the Mafia.

The man was killed by a Western and Atlantic train. All efforts to identify him failed up to shortly after noon yesterday, when a mysterious looking Italian visited the undertaking establishment where the body lay.

When he viewed the body, the bystanders saw that he recognized the man. It was hard work to get him to tell who the dead man was, but he finally claimed he had every reason to believe that it was Paullus Castro, who was one of the Italians to tell Mafia secrets to the police of New Orleans, and who has been dogged from place to place ever since.

It is the theory of the police here that the strange Italian, who gave the name of Deblaguro, had been following Castro. It is understood that the Mafia have sworn to kill Castro and his brother, and it may be that death has robbed them of their revenge.

THE GOOD WORK GOES ON.

Governor Campbell at New Breman.

A Characteristic Speech Which Is Heard by the Farmer—Mortgages and Tariff Discussed.

New Bremen, O., Oct. 16.—Governor Campbell and party came over here from Celina yesterday and there was a large number of sturdy farmers waiting to hear him.

The tariff and farm mortgages were the theme of the governor's speech and he held the closest atention of his audience.

In the course of his speech, the governor paid a high compliment to the people of the Western Reserve and described the meetings held in that section of the state. He said he was talking with the voters of the democratic northwest in the same manner as he talked to the voters of the Western Reserve, and he wanted the voters of this section of the state to vote for him for the same reason that he would get the votes of many farmer republicans of the Reserve, because the cause he represented was right.

In speaking of the depreciation of the value of farming lands in the state of Ohio, the governor said the lawyers and the sheriffs were the only persons making any money on farms under the boasted high tariff policy of the republican party.

"I don't care how often they call me a calamity croaker," said the governor, "I have the figures of a republican state board of equalization to corroborate my statements and I propose to go right ahead telling the truth and pointing out the remedy."

The governor then produced statistics to show that when the tariff went up farm lands went down. "Major McKinley," said he, "meets these figures by quoting some one who doesn't believe in grumbling and a vigorous tugging at the tail of the American eagle. The republican paper at Lima complains that there is too much hilarity in my meetings. In fact all of the republican papers charge that at our meetings this year we sometimes take time to laugh. Well, suppose we do? The farmers of Ohio have enough to make them feel bad without my going about the state looking solemn. If the farmers are having a little fun at my meetings why all right, it's a sure thing that they are not having much fun on their farms."

MUST FACE THE MUSIC.

The Pennsylvania Senate Takes Action.

Republicans Try to Block the Way, but the Avalanche of Evidence Is Too Great.

Harrisburg, Oct. 16.—In the senate Hall (dem.) offered a resolution requesting the governor to submit the testimony taken by the investigating committee.

Gobin (dem.) objected. Then after discussion Hall's resolution was adopted after being amended to provide that the testimony be used for information.

Auditor General McCamant and State Treasurer Boyer submitted protests against the right of the governor to remove them or of the senate to try them, and declaring their innocence.

LEIF ERIKSON'S VINELAND

Bostonians Think It Was Cape Cod.

Origin of the Name "America" Suggested.

An Interesting Paper Read Before a Geographical Society by Professor Horsford.

Boston, Oct. 16.—The Bostonian Society has held its first regular meeting, after the vacation, at its rooms in the old state house, Hon. Hamilton A. Hill in the chair, and a large attendance of members present.

Prof. E. N. Horsford, of Cambridge, presented an elaborate paper, of which the following is an abstract:

The paper began with an allusion to the increased facilities afforded by recent research for the determination of obscure questions in history. Much has been discovered in 50 years, and his intimation at the dedication of the statute of Leif Erikson, five years ago, that its special fitness in that location would soon become obvious, is already justified.

Two and a half years ago he announced the discovery of the "Land-fall" of Leif and of the site of his house in Vineland, and a year later Scandinavians united with the American geographical society in commemoration exercises at Watertown, the site of a Norwegian colony, the ancient Norumbega.

He considered it established that earlier than Cabot, 1497, the Boston French had possessed and occupied this region, the original New France. Here was the land of Verrazano, the land of Gomez and of Cortereal. But centuries before this Leif and Thorfinn came here; Boston harbor was the gateway through which they, the founders of the first European colony in America, passed to "Vineland the Good."

He traced the name of "Carenas," applied on the map of Lok to Cape Cod, through its various changes in early maps, the determination of the particular island on which Leif landed, at the end of Cape Cod, but now joined to the mainland, as the identification of the spot on the bank of the Charles where he built his houses, in detail, the principal points of which are the following:

First—The fact according to Icelandic records, of a voyage of some 14 days' sail, southwestward, by Leif Erikson, in about the year 1000, to a region where the shortest day of the year was nine hours' long, and which land he called Vineland.

Second—The fact of a Vineland in the western ocean fixed by Danish records independently of Icelandic literature.

Third—The fact that Leif, at the end of his voyage after two days'sail to the southwestward from the sand beaches of Cape Sable, landed on an island, at the north end of a long promontory, having on the west a broad and deep bay opening outward to the sea on the north, in the 43d degree.

Fourth—The presence of physical remains, as walls, pavements, stone dams, wharves, ditches, amphitheatres, along a river flowing from the west, through "a land-locked bay, salt at flood tide and fresh at ebb," into an archipelago, all in a providence called Norway on the early maps, and in the latitude of Boston.

Fifth—The fact that this region called Norway included White Man's land of the Sagas—also called White Man's land in the Indian language at the time of King Philip and the Massachusetts bay colony, and occupied by white men throughout great areas, according to Spanish records, a hundred years before.

Sixth—The fact that the names of the country, of many of the localities and of their native tribes are familiar to us in derivatives from the name of the Norse discoverer.

As to Vineland, he saw two questions—one of its existence and the other its latitude.

Its existence does not rest on the Vineland Sagas, for it was determined three centuries before, when about 1070 the prelate Adam of Bremen gave to the world his conversation with the King of Denmark. In thih are four Vineland stories, all revolving about the Landfall of Leif and the site of his houses in Vineland. These reached Iceland at the era of the 14th century, but the conversation alluded to was about the discovery of Vineland about half a century after Thorfinn was here.

The professor quoted the Icelandic Sagas in regard to Vineland, the story of Biarni, of Leif, and others. Leif mentions his voyage past Newfoundland and Nova Scotia, after which, the two great facts are "descending in the last section of the voyage, with plain sailing from the northeast, upon an island lying to the north of the mainland, which island and mainland had, on the west,a broad bay opening out to the north." This record, and what follows applies only to Cape Cod and the islands of Boston harbor. No other point on the coast can be thus described. About Cape Cod still lingers the name Vineland, in Vineyard sound and Martha's Vineyard, and the Dutch maps of nearly 300 years ago had, along the coast north of Cape Cod, similar names, while on a French map, never published, is a "vineyard" name, where Cambridge now is.

Passing Cape Cod and the islands, Thorfinn mentions the river flowing through "a small, land-locked bay, salt at flood tide and fresh at ebb," the Back bay, the only bay on the coast which meets his description.

The professor locates various points mentioned in the Saga, as Noddle's island, and the river between Fort Point and East Boston. Thorfinn says except at high tide his vessel could not enter the Charles above the lake, that is near and below the Brookline bridge.

Numerous allusions by Leif, his brother Thorwald and Thorfinn, in the accounts of their several voyages, were quoted, as applicable only to this locality. "Leif's houses" are often mentioned, with details of location that cannot be otherwhere applied, and the professor claimed to have determined the sites of the foundations of the houses, the fish pits, etc.

The finding of the household utensils, implements and decorations of Norse origin in eastern Massachusetts was alluded to, and much stress was laid on inscriptions which have been found. One, on a tablet of slate four inches long, found with a human skeleton, a brass shield, a fragment of a sword, on Norseman's Woe, was of especial interest. The professor regards it as a record of the repair of Thorwald's ship in 1004. It is in the Essex Institute, Salem.

Leif relates that on the shortest day of the year they had the sun from 7:30 to 4:30 o'clock. This a key to the latitude of Vineland. The argument establishing these hours was given at length, and it was presented as conclusive. An astronomical computation shows that 890 years ago the length of the day in lat. 42 degrees 22 minutes was 9 hours, 2 minutes 58 seconds. Thus science and the "logs" of the voyagers unite in fixing the location.

In conclusion, the professor said the ancient geography of the north Atlantic, as shown on Stephanius' map and the latest charts, have been brought in harmony. All accessible material also harmonizes with the conclusion that the Landfall of Leif was in the latitude of Boston, and his Vineland home was in the basin of the Charles river.

He also suggested an origin of the name America. It first appeared in print in 1507, but Prof. Jules Marcou has established the presence of a tribe of natives in Central America, long known as Amiriques, and also of a range of mountains and a river having the name Amirrique. He suggests that Vespucius heard the name, so like his own. Whether he found the name or not, it was here, and Columbus knew its equivalent in Jamaica as early as 1494.

As a hint of its origin, the essayist suggested that the honor due the Northmen is vindicated from the very outset. It perpetuates the claims of Eric as a discoverer. Eirikr, which to a listener is not far from Erika, needs only the prefix m, one of the features of utterance due to imperfect vocal development, remarked among American aboriginal races to become en-erika, or not remotely, American

A BRIDE BUT TEN HOURS

A Girl's Devotion to the Man She Loved.

Married on Her Death Bed at Midnight,

She Signed Documents Which Made Him Heir to a Quarter of Million Dollars.

New York Oct. 16.—Louis P. Rollins, a hardware salesman of No. 113 Columbia Heights at Brooklyn, has just fallen heir to $250,000 through a romantic marriage.

His bride was taken from him by death ten hours after the marriage ceremony had been performed. Two years ago Mr. Rollins went to Charleston, Me., to spend his vacation. While out rowing in a lake one day he rescued a beautiful young girl, the daughter of a wealthy Boston lumber dealer, Wm. Narcross.

Kate E. Narcross was 19, and the belle of the summer resort. She lived with her widower father at the old Maine town during the summer months and at Somerville, Mass., during the winter.

It was a case of love at first sight between the salesman and Kate Narcross. When Mr. Rollins left Charleston he secured a promise from his sweetheart that she would be his bride.

Mr. Rollins went to Somerville at every opportunity, and the marriage was put off from time to time till Mr. Rollins could secure a permanent position in New York which would not require him to travel.

Two weeks ago Kate's father died, leaving the bulk of his fortune to his only child, who had nursed him tenderly through a long fit of sickness. The strain of attending to her father night and day was too great for the dutiful daughter. She was taken ill the day of her father's funeral and never left her room. Pneumonia set in and the physicians told Miss Narcross that she must die.

"Send for Louis, we must wed before die," was Miss Narcross' request. Mr. Rollins was on a long business trip through the west for a Chambers street hardware firm. He hastened to the bedside of his intended wife, and arrived on the eve of the day before she died. At Miss Narcross' request the Rev. A. R. Winship was called in at midnight. The physicians did not believe that Miss Narcross could live till morning. "This is a very different mariage to what I had hoped for," was the dying woman's greeting to the clergyman.

Between midnight and 1 o'clock of Saturday morning the ceremony was performed. After the services Miss Narcross had a notary summoned and she made her will, the witnesses being her husband, the clergyman and friends in the house. The newly made wife signed the document that gave nearly all her property to her husband in a clear, broad hand.

She seemed to have gained new strength by the marriage and the physicians thought they saw signs of a change for the better in Mrs. Rollins' condition.

But it was too late, for a relapse followed and the bride sank into a peaceful sleep from which she never awoke.

"Good-by, Louis, my darling husband," were her last words. The heart-broken husband followed his wife's remains to the grave and then returned to Chicago to settle up his business trip.

He will return to Somerville at once and settle up his wife's estate. The Charleston (Me.) Academy was also remembered by Miss Narcross. She had been a pupil of the academy.

When a reporter called at Mr. Rollins' Brooklyn residence he learned a rather peculiar story about another girl. It was said, without names being given, that Mr. Rollins had been engaged to another Brooklyn girl for several years. It was said she was the daughter of a Brooklyn clothier and that an explanation of the queer midnight marriage might be asked for on Mr. Rollins' return to Brooklyn. When Mr. Rollins was in Brooklyn he was quite a favorite in a large circle of friends. He was an excellent conversationalist and of good address, and he made acquaintances quickly. He has been drawing a salary of $2,000, but may now go into business for himself.

A RAILROADER'S LIFE.

Filled With Constant Danger—The Experience of Mr. G. R. Updyke and His Statements of His Rescue.

Every business in life has its accompanying dangers, but from the numerous accidents in which both life and limb are lost it would seem that railroading is the most hazardous. Not only are those thus engaged subject to accidental dangers but their work, exposed as they are to all kinds of weather, renders them more liable to disease, especially catarrhal affections.

Mr. G. R. Updyke, yard-conductor of the Pennsylvania lines in Toledo, residing at 2101 Erie street, in speaking of his many troubles said:

Mr. G. R. Updyke, 2101 Erie street, Toledo.

"I have suffered most miserably for five years. I had occasional violent headaches. My eyes were weak and watery and my nose was continually stopped up. This was due somewhat to the accumulation of mucus, more especially to a number of Nasal Polypii "that filled both nostrils. I had to continually hawk and spit. I felt tired in the morning. I had occasional stabbing, at other times dull, pains about the region of the heart.

"I could scarcely breath at times, but after taking treatment of Drs. Copeland and Buffett, who immediately removed the polypii without the slightest pain or loss of blood, my breathing at once became much improved. My pains, aches and troubles almost miraculously disappeared until now I feel better than I have felt for years." They have worked such a great change in my condition that I unhesitatingly recommend them to all those who suffer."

Representative Men.

MR. C. E. McLEAN, 925 Indiana avenue connected with Roth & Freedman's dying establishment, says: "Drs. Copeland and Buffett worked wonders in my case. My catrrhal trouble has disappeared under their skillful treatment I cannot recommend them too highly.

MR. N. R. DULL, 2215 Lorlie street, contracting carpenter, says: "I recommend Drs. Copeland and Buffett as physicians of marked ability. They relieved me of a catarrhal complaint of long standing.

MR. JOSEPH COOMBS watchman at the "Blade" building, residing 385 Indiana avenue, says: "To the diligent, faithful, scientific and skillful treatment I received of Drs. Copeland and Buffett do I attribute the fact of my being restored to health."

MR. EUGENE McCARTHY, a member of the Toledo police force, residing at 316 Knower street, says: "Drs. Copeland and Buffett cured me of an aggravating hay fever and I unhesitatingly recommend these physicians."

A Challenge.

Drs. Copeland and Buffett offer $1,000 to any one who will disprove one of their printed statements. This challenge is made in good faith, and will be kept standing in these columns.

HAD TO TAKE IT BACK.

The New York Record has Retracted.

No Such Man as Wilkinson Exists.

Gov. Campbell's Slanderers Driven Into a Hole Which Must Be Pitiable for Republicans to Behold.

New York, Oct. 16.—(Special)—The New York Recorder of this morning makes a full and complete retraction of its charges against Gov. Campbell contained in an interview with the alleged Ralph W. Wilkinson.

It acknowledges that Wilkinson is a myth and that it has been imposed upon.

HARD DOSE TO SWALLOW.

Cincinnati, Oct. 16.—(Special)—The Commercial-Gazette prints the following from the New York Recorder:

1. On the 5th day of October, 1891, we published certain information which we received from what we then considered to be an authentic source, concerning an interview with one Ralph W. Wilkinson, said to be a prominent citizen of Columbus, O., regarding certain financial transactions with Governor James E. Campbell, of Ohio.

The source from which the information came to us at the time of the publication we believed to be reliable. On the succeeding day we published Gov. Campbell's denial of the statements contained in the interview, together with a letter from his counsel, Messrs. Hoadly, Lauterbach & Johnson.

We did not at that time retract the publication because of our reliance in the truthfulness of the statement made to us.

Since then, however, we have been at pains to investigate it, and as a result candidly say that we have been unable to discover any such person as Ralph W. Wilkinson, and had he been a prominent citizen of Columbus, O., as was represented to us, we would no doubt from the investigation which we set on foot have been able to find him.

We have no desire to do an injustice to Governor Campbell, and therefore, under the circumstances, cheerfully withdraw all statements so far as we are concerned made in the interview with the alleged Ralph W. Wilkinson.

YESTERDAY'S REGISTRATION

Shows an Increase—Comparison with Previous Years.

Another registration day closed last evening, with results that are gratifying to say the least.

The total in comparison with the second day of 1890 show an increase of 552 in favor of yesterday's registration.

The total for the first and second days of 1890 together was 8,046, and the same time this year, 9,741, an increase of 1,695. There was a splendid increase all along the line.

The following are the figures:

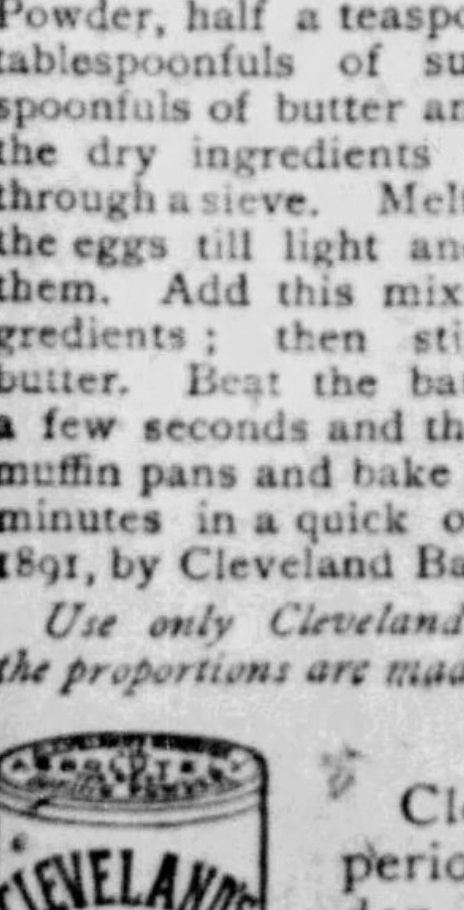
Luncheon Muffins.

BY MARIA PARLOA.

For one dozen muffins use one pint of flour, a generous half pint of milk, two teaspoonfuls of Cleveland's Baking Powder, half a teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, three tablespoonfuls of butter and two eggs. Mix the dry ingredients together and rub through a sieve. Melt the butter. Beat the eggs till light and add the milk to them. Add this mixture to the dry ingredients; then stir in the melted butter. Beat the batter vigorously for a few seconds and then put in buttered muffin pans and bake for about twenty minutes in a quick oven.—(Copyright, 1891, by Cleveland Baking Powder Co.)

Use only Cleveland's baking powder, the proportions are made for that.



Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder is perfectly wholesome. It leavens most and leavens best. Try a can.

The Iron Moulders' union held a session in Turley's hall last evening and passed upon the applications of a number of new members. The union is in good shape and has never a grievance.

TO ENJOIN THE CITY

From Cutting Off Gas From Large Consumers.

All Must Use Meters and Pay Eight Cents—The Flat Goes Forth at Noon.

At noon to-day Manager Heston of the natural gas department began notifying large consumers of natural gas that they must at once provide meters under which they will be obliged to pay the established 8-cent rate. Inasmuch as quite a number are not paying over three cents, and some even less, this is looked upon as practically cutting off some of the large consumers. Quite a number, however, are prepared to pay the advanced rate.

Should any attempt be made to close off large consumers who have contracts and who are willing to pay the established price, there may be trouble.

The directors of one of the largest consumers of city gas held a meeting this morning to talk over the situation.

"Do you propose putting in a meter and paying 8 cents?" a Bee asked one of the directors.

"Perhaps. We have not decided however just what to do."

"Suppose the trustees, even at the 8-cent rate, cuts off the gas, what then?"

"The trustees cannot do it. They cannot discriminate between large and small consumers as long as both pay the established rate."

"Does not your contract say you can be cut off at any time that the demands of private consumers may require it?"

"Yes, there is such a clause in our contract, but it won't stand in law. I don't say that we will contest the point, but that it will be contested the coming winter you can safely bet."

The trustees say they will cut off every large consumer in the city if the demands of the private individual requires it. They laugh at the idea of contesting the clause referred to.

THREE WEDDINGS,

In Which Many Toledoans Are Interested.

At 7 o'clock last evening at the Monroe street M. E. church occurred the wedding of Miss Leila Smith and Mr. Chas. Detwiler. The church was beautifully decorated with palms and flowers. To the strains of Mendlessohn's wedding march the bridal party proceeded to the altar in the following manner: The ushers, Messrs. W. Crooks, F. Butts, J. Snyder and Sam Heller; best men, Charlie Burge, R. G. Sampson and Howard Smith. The maid of honor was Miss Nellie Welton of Jonesville, Mich. She was becomingly attired in white silk trimmed in duchesse lace. The maids were Miss Minnie Chapman of South Bend, in nile green; Mrs. R. G. Sampson in white silk and Miss Tessie Cleary in pink, and two dear little children, Ladd Morse and Flora Sampson. The bride, charming in white silk, tuelle veil and carrying brides' roses, entered the church with her father and was met at the altar by the groom and best man, Mr. Percy Oblinger. The impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. S. D. Conger of the Fifth Presbyterian, assisted by Rev. G. H. Priddy of the M. E. church. Ladd Morse and Flora Sampson strewed flowers in the pathway of the bride and groom as they left the church.

The happy couple proceeded immediately to their new home on Detroit avenue, where a reception was held from 8 till 11 o'clock. Dainty refreshments were served during the evening. The presents were numerous and beautiful. Congratulations and best wishes for a happy future were received by Mr. and Mrs. Detwiler from their host of friends.

The guests from abroad were: Mrs. T. Detwiler and Miss Eunice, of Seawickly, Pa., Mrs. F. Waring, Trumansburg, N. Y., Miss M. A. Goff and Mrs. Geo. Askew, Jonesville, Mich., Mrs. Chas. Shumaker, Stone City, Iowa, Mr. Hyde, Bloomington, Iowa.

The Cleveland Leader of this morning has the following relative to the wedding of Frank Baldwin and Miss May Harvey:

A wedding took place at noon Thursday at the Euclid Avenue Methodist Episcipal church. The bride was Miss May R. Harvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Harvey, and the groom was Mr. Frank T. Baldwin, of Toledo. Rev. E. P. Edmonds, the recent pastor of the church, officiated, Rev. Dr. Craft, the present pastor, assisting him. The bride was given away by her cousin, Mr. Arthur A. Hall, of Washington, D. C. The bridesmaids were Miss Pearl Judson and Miss Julia Baker. The groom's best man was Mr. Henry Eberth, of Gambier, O., and the ushers were Messrs. Homer S. Stark and Will Baldwin, the latter a brother of the groom, of Toledo. The bride wore a handsome gown of tan-colored broadcloth, trimmed with beaver fur, with bonnet and gloves en suite, and carried bride's roses. The bridesmaids' gowns were of gray Bedford cord, with black ostrich feather trimming, and they had small bonnets and gloves en suite. One carried pink roses, the other yellow roses. There was a large attendance at the church, probably 250 guests being present. A reception of the more intimate friends took place at the home of the bride's parents, No. 778 Republic street, from 1 to 3 o'clock, the house being decorated with foliage plants and flowers, chrysanthemums predominating. Many wedding gifts were received. The bride and groom left at 6 p. m. for Toledo, where a newly furnished home awaited them.

SOME SPICY CURRENT TOPICS

Of Local and Neighborhood Interest.

Notes and Comments on Incidents Occurring Daily—Prepared for Readers Who are Hustled for Time.

STREET RAILWAY INJUNCTION.

The motion to dissolve the injunction restraining the Consolidated Street Railway company from erecting an electric trolley wire in Monroe street was taken up for hearing in Judge Pugsley's court to-day. The action was filed by Michael Hennesy.

CUTLER MAIL CHUTE.

The new Bee Building is now supplied with Cutler's patent United States Mail Chute, the first and only one in use in Toledo. The chute runs from the fourth story to a government mail box and the arrangement is authorized by the postoffice department. It is a very ornamental as well as a very useful attachment. The public is invited to inspect it.

WORKING ON BRIDGE STREET.

The contractors have commenced work on the paving of Bridge street from the river to Front street and expect to get the most of it done before winter sets in. This is good news to the citizens of the East Side and the city in general, for that street has been in a miserable condition for years and the project to improve it has had a hard time.

DR. SPOONER'S CASE CONTINUED.

The hearing before Commissioner Hall in the case against Dr. Spooner on the charge of embezzlement took place yesterday afternoon, and at 2 o'clock to-day was continued for one week. Dr. Spooner gave a clear statement, and he was followed by Samuel Dentler and J. L. Cole, of Republic, as to the doctor's character and standing.

VANDEBT FOUND GUILTY.

The case of the state against John Vandebt was tried in criminal court yesterday on the charge of horse stealing. At a late hour the jury returned a verdict of guilty as charged and found the value of the horse at $60. The case against George Aurmond was taken up this morning. Aurmond was indicted with Vandebt for the same offense.

DOES ANYONE KNOW HIM?

Wm. Leecher, while crossing a bridge on the C., J. & M. railroad, between Addison and Jerome, was struck by a west-bound passenger train at 5 o'clock last evening. He was taken to Jerome on the train and died shortly after. He had $35 in cash and a note for $40 on his person. He was about 60 years old. It is thought he lived near Addison, but no relatives can be found in that territory.

THE ARREST WILL COME NOW.

Judge Howe was in police court this morning to look after the Mrs. Birchmiller case which was to have been heard to-day, and was very much surprised that no warrant for her arrest had been issued. He criticised the court and court officials for not attending to their duties. As the order for her re-arrest had not been put on the docket the clerk could not issue one unless a new charge was made and the costs put up by the complainant. Considerable discussion was had over the matter, which resulted in an order being placed on to-day's docket for her re-arrest.

WILL BE BROUGHT BACK.

James Nicholl, the sailor who was shot by the mate of the schooner Penokee a few weeks ago, was taken to the infirmary last week. Last Wednesday some of the friends of the man who did the shooting called for him and took him away under the pretense that they were going to put him in the marine hospital. Instead he was sent out of the city and went to Cleveland.

As the man is under $300 bail to appear in court as the complaining witness, word was sent to Cleveland for his re-arrest. He was arrested there and will be held until an officer goes after him. When he returns he will be put under close guard.

TWO PAINTERS MEET WITH AN ACCIDENT.

Two painters, Frank Higgins and Charles Bitter, were seriously if not fatally injured by falling off a scaffold in one of the rooms of the Produce Exchange yesterday afternoon. The fastening at one end of the scaffold gave way and the men were violently thrown to the floor. McGlynn's ambulance was called and conveyed the men to their homes on Broadway. Both are married and have small families. Mr. Higgins' injuries are the greater, and it is possible he may not recover. His spine was badly injured by striking on a steam heater. Mr. Bitter's injuries are not so severe, but bad enough to inconvenience him for a time.

IN TRADING CIRCLES

Both at Our Home and Abroad.

Wheat Quotations for the Day—Price Current for Produce and Other Articles.

London wheat market steady and firm. Weather cold and rainy. French country markets steady. Liverpool wheat firm, unchanged. Corn steady.

Liverpool received in past six days 560,000 bu wheat, of which 225,000 was American; and 262,000 bu of corn.

The receipts of wheat at seven principal western points to-day are 1,066,880 bu, compared with 364,893 bu on the same day last year.

The Flour Market.—Western Miller reports good demand for flour, while New York market is quoted dull. Trading direct, between producer and consumer, is growing.

Beerbohm says: In our extracts herein, that Russian and Indian exports are much decreased, and that the aggregate from all sources now approximates to the consumptive wants.

Beerbohm gives the following as the stocks of wheat at seven principal English markets:

	Oct. 1, 1891.	July 1, 1891.	Oct. 1, 1890.
Wheat, bu.	6,286,000	4,999,000	8,808,000

The receipts of wheat at seven principal western points are 432,98 bus. in excess of the corresponding Friday in 1890.

The export clearances yesterday at four Atlantic ports were 240,106 bus. of wheat. The flour movement was very large, and equals 260,000 bus. of wheat or an aggregate of 500,000 bus.

English markets are steady, firm and unchanged in price. Corn steady.

The report sent out from New York at about close of 'change yesterday that Russia had prohibited the export of corn was hastily assumed by western dealers to cover all kinds of grain, as that is the European interpretation of the word. But it seems to refer only to corn, as we define it. Whatever significance the order may have in Russia, it is of little consequence to the corn market, or at any rate, the effect will be temporary in view of our large crop nearly ready to move in a commercial way and already in large use for feeding.

To-day we hear nothing sensational. Of course we ought to expect it just at the close. It is kept on draft, east and west, ready to be sprung. It is German reduction of duty one day and Russian prohibition the next. The fact is that the markets have drifted into a condition where the bears seem to predominate, and it requires this kind of artifical stimulus to keep them excited and hesitating.

The inadequate sowing of winter wheat to date may become a serious element if the weather this month should turn against it. In the trans-Mississippi states the acreage sown to date shows a large deficiency and it is now late. But good weather may yet secure an average area in wheat.

We would like to hear again from the Mr. Davis of Kansas, whose theory is that America will soon import wheat. America can double this year's production with sufficient provocation in the price and with as favorable weather conditions.

Liverpool cables that they have just heard of the Russian ukase by way of the Chicago wheatpit.

The closing cables make wheat 1-2 to 1 pence higher, corn 1-2 lower, but we rather trust our report to-morrow morning. New York reports 21 loads of wheat sold for export to-day.

The markets have been soft and weak all day, and are lower east and west, both for wheat and corn.

In New York Oct. and Dec. wheat closed 1c lower. Oct. corn, 1c, and Nov. 7-8c lower. Oct. oats 1-4c lower.

In Chicago Dec. wheat closed 7-8c lower. Oct. corn 1-8c and Nov. 7-8c lower. Nov. oats 1-4c lower.

In Toledo the business in wheat futures has been quite light, but while prices are lower, sellers were firm and stubborn, and contested every break. Closing prices are 3-4c lower for Dec. and May and 1-2c lower on cash wheat. On the call Dec. wheat sold at $1.01 7-8 and May at $1.08. After the call Dec. sold at $1.01 3-4 and closed at $1.01 1-2 bid. May sold $1.08 and closed at $1.07 1-2.

Cash wheat was firmly held, but was not active. No.2 soft sold at 99 1-2c to $1, and at close 99 1-2c was the price. No. 3 soft about 95 1-2c; No. 4 soft at 89 1-2c to 92c. Rejected No. 1 at 85c to 87c, the latter being about the market. No. 2 at 82c; No. 2 red and white at 98c; No. 2 hard at 97c; No. 3 hard at 91 1-2c; No. 1 white at 97c to 96 1-2c. Corn—No. 2 at 56c. Oats—No. 2 about 29 1-2c. Rye—No. 2 steady at 88c; No. 3 irregular at 85 1-2c to 84c; rejected at 78c.

Cloverseed was about steady, with only higher business reported. Prime for cash at $4.55; Dec. at $4.57 1-2; No. 2 at $4.15 to $4.35.

Seed Market.

Clover Seed.—We have seen a letter from the section of Illinois which has hitherto produced largely of clover seed, which says that there is no surplus there, and farmers are buying of each other for seeding purposes.

Freights.

Lake freight to Buffalo, wheat, 2c; Erie canal, including charges, 5 1-8c; Toledo to New York, 8 1-8c.

at 7 o'clock p. m. for the purchase of street improvement bonds, to the amount of fifteen thousand eight hundred and seventy-two 71-100 ($15,872 71-100) dollars, bearing date October 26, 1891, and payable as follows: One thousand four hundred and seventy-two 71-100 dollars on 26th April, 1892, and sixteen hundred dollars at the expiration of every six months thereafter, to and including October 26, 1896. At the office of the city treasurer, with interest at the rate of five (5) per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually at the same place as evidenced by coupons to be attached to said bonds.

Said improvement bonds are issued pursuant to section 2704 to 2707 of the revised statutes of the state of Ohio, and also under an ordinance of the Common Council of the city of Toledo Ohio, "To provide for the issue of improvement bonds to pay the cost and expense of the improvement of Maumee avenue from Broadway to Prouty avenue." —passed September 21, 1891.

The denomination of these bonds will be first payment one bond of $472 71-100, and two of $500, and thereafter two of $500 and one of $600 each payment.

When the bids have been examined, and the award made according to law, all monies or checks deposited as guarantees shall be returned to the depositor, or held by the city auditor subject to his call, except that of the successful bidder which shall be held and considered, and accepted as part payment of the bonds so awarded or sold, but should there be any repudiation of the contract or agreement, or refusal to accept and pay for the bonds so sold, then and in that case the deposit shall be forfeited to the city of Toledo, and shall become the property of said city, in compensation for loss and expenses attending the sale of said bonds and as liquidated damages for repudiation of bid. And no bid will be received if not accompanied by money or check aforesaid.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Rorick is a farm mortgage shark and the farmers will vote against him.

New Mexico wants to become a state. The administration should at once appoint a committee of investigation to learn which way her voting population leans.

The Blade closed like a clam on its story that Rorick, the republican candidate for senator, was a soldier. He wasn't within five hundred miles of gunpowder during the whole war.

In one family of six voters in Wood county, every man heretofore having been a republican, the whole six will vote for Gov. Campbell this year.

The republicans have been inquiring for Larry Neal. Well, he is hustling for the democratic ticket, as usual, and is announced for a speech at Urbana next Thursday. The democratic leaders are not sulking in their tents.

The governor of Ohio will address the people of Toledo to-night. It will be a great speech and the audience will be as large as can be crowded into Memorial hall. Go early to secure a seat. Don't miss the opportunity to hear Gov. Campbell.

No matter what a judge may think, the people believe the county commissioners are bound to do only as the law directs, and, as the present board of commissioners has violated the law in many respects, the people will do their duty this year by electing a democrat to the board.

The Cincinnati Times-Star, being a radical republican paper, is naturally disposed to dispute the Bee when it says Hamilton county may again give Gov. Campbell a majority. Still the Times-Star knows the Bee is right. Hamilton county is drifting away from McKinleyism and is very likely to give a democratic majority.

A county official in this senatorial district told Senator Ryan he was disposed to work against his re-election this fall because he voted for the Garber bill to reduce the fees of county officers.

"Do it," said Honest John, "and I will have ten thousand majority. I stand upon that record and challenge opposition on that score."

Honest words bravely spoken. The taxpayers have been saved thousands upon thousands of dollars by the good work of Senator Ryan.

The outgrowth of the criminally mean methods of campaigning adopted by Ohio republicans is shown by the following extracts from the editorial columns of the New York organ that quotes scripture daily to prove its piety:

"If the democratic Campbell in Ohio is humping itself with bankruptcy it is liable to lie down."

"Governor Campbell, the democratic nominee for governor in Ohio, is appealing to the people there to continue to feed him at the public crib, on the ground that he is poor and cannot pay his debts."

The resolution of thanks for courtesies shown and extended by the state convention of the W. C. T. U. to the press is a compliment duly appreciated. The Bee is further gratified by the assurance of individual delegates that its report has been fair and full, and "the best ever given." It is the ambition of this paper to give all legitimate news fully and fairly, and to treat all conventions with that courtesy which it extends with much satisfaction to the Ohio women represented in the convention now in session. The Bee notes with special commendation the action of the convention which urges the daily press to keep the newspaper columns clear from any unnecessary filth in its necessary transcript of the proceeding of courts and criminal trials. This has been a policy pursued by this paper from the beginning, and will always be its policy.

In the course of Mr. Sherman's "masterly argument" in Dayton, he calls Mr. Mills "a very clever rebel," which goes for much with republicans. He says: "The sugar growers cheated the negroes out of their votes and had been in the rebellion, but they must be treated the same as other citizens." Which is very kind of Mr. Sherman. He told his Toledo audience that the sugar beet industry already outstripped the cane, and another orator of his ilk finds Vermont booming because of the bounty on maple sugar. So this statement neutralizes his fling at the rebels. Mr. McKinley touches this bounty business very lightly; he remembers to have said in a speech near Toledo once upon a time not very remote, that "the people would never stand direct taxation like bounties, but by way of the tariff they did not feel it"—i. e., did not see it.

In the interview with that "practical tin man" (who has seen the factory in Demmler, Pa.) which is doing duty in campaign newspapers, the man is made to say that it takes skilled workmen to dip and finish tin plate, and thus the few Welshmen employed are accounted for. Mr. Sherman says "any boy or girl in Ohio can do it; it is easier than dipping candles." The question then takes form like this: If the United States has rich tin mines, and the iron mills which have been protected into giant strength and health and are still "fostered" can roll the plates, and boys and girls can dip them, with all these advantages and the pauper labor of the world to choose from, why do manufacturers of the product need alms from the whole country to boost them? Why should they have such alms any more than hundreds of other producers?

The amount of it is the average republican high-tax orator or newspaper organ cannot make an argument on the tariff question that cannot be torn into shreds by pitting the sayings of one of them against another.

TWO RECORDS.

One of the best measures of the last democratic legislature was the passage of the Garber bill to reduce the fees and salaries of county officers. This measure has the hearty indorsement of the taxpayers of Ohio, and the men who supported the bill will receive the grateful votes of the people of Ohio. Here in Lucas county we have two men who were members of the last general assembly and who are candidates for reelection. One is Hon. John Ryan, senator, and the other is Hon. C. P. Griffin, representative.

One was an earnest advocate of the reform law, the other was a bitter opponent of that splendid reform measure.

One voted to reduce the fees of the county officers to a proper compensation, the other worked and voted to continue the outrageous and scandalous fees which the Lucas county officials have notoriously received for many years.

One proved himself a friend of the taxpayers, the other was the selfish lobbyist of the purse-stuffed republican officials of Lucas county.

One promised to work for this reform when he was first a candidate, the other said nothing to the public and promised everything to the ring that was instrumental in foisting him upon the county as its misrepresentative.

The man who stood by the people is Honest John Ryan. The man who was recreant to the demands of the taxpayers is C. P. Griffin.

For this one good vote John Ryan ought to be re-elected by a handsome majority. For his bad record Mr. Griffin ought to be buried out of sight in November.

UNION VETERANS' UNION.

State and National Encampments Held.

Officers Elected and Other Business Transacted of General Interest to the Order.

Reading, Pa., Oct. 16.—The national convention of the Union Veteran legion reconvened in secret session with over 250 delegates in attendance yesterday. The different officers presented their final reports. A proposition to create some of the national officers life members of the national encampment met with great opposition and was voted down by a large majority.

The resolution asking that President Harrison remove Commissioner Raum was postponed indefinitely.

There were a number of candidates for national commander, but the contest narrowed down to three. The fourth and final ballot resulted in the election of Col. Joseph E. Palmer, of Brooklyn.

Ohio's Boys.

Fremont, Oct. 16.—The Union Veterans' union closed its session yesterday and most of the delegates returned to their homes. Among other business was a conclusion that no comrades be elected to U. V. U. office and hold G. A. R. office at the same time; also that a state organizer be appointed. The following officers were elected: Department commander, Gen. F. L. Ellis, Lima; first deputy, Col. I. C. Gibbons, Akron; second deputy, Col. J. H. Sprague, Norwalk; department chaplain, Gen. F. R. Loomis, Norwalk; surgeon, Dr. Patterson, Mansfield; executive committee, Gen. W. B. Tanneyhill, Akron; Gen. F. R. Loomis, Norwalk; Gen. A. K. Rarey, Kenton; Col. H. S. Prophet, Lima; Col. Geo. W. Gurst, Fremont.

Yesterday afternoon the officers were installed by Gen. F. R. Loomis, and after some minor business the encampment adjourned. During the past year seven new commands were instituted in Ohio, making a total of 46 in the state, with about 2,000 members.

The Woman's Veteran Relief union also closed its session. During the morning the president made her report and the following officers were elected and installed by Gen. Ellis: President, Anna R. Tanneyhill, Akron; vice president, Josie Atwood, Kenton; junior vice president, Mary McFarland, Mansfield; chaplain, Amelia Dillenschneider, Fremont; conductress, Mrs. Patton, Dunkirk; secretary, Lovina Foy, Akron; treasurer, Mary Vogot, Akron; inside guard, Mary Moore, Springfield; outside guard, Lucinda Webber, Leipsic. During the year five new unions were installed, one removed and three disbanded. The next meeting will be at Akron.

A ROMANCE AND A ROPE.

Wm. Rose Ends Both at the Same Time.

He Wanted to Marry a Farmer's Daughter, but Instead Killed the Father and Was Hanged for the Deed.

Redwood Falls, Minn., Oct. 16.—Wm. Rose was hanged at 1:05 a. m. under the new law which requires that all executions must take place between midnight and morning and out of sight of all newspaper men.

The murder for which Rose was hanged was a sensational one, behind which there was a romance. Rose came to Redwood county from Pike county, Ill. Here he fell in love with Miss Grace Lufkin, a pretty girl of 20, daughter of a farmer. The girl reciprocated Rose's love, but on the advice of her father refused to see her lover. Rose was angered at this and one evening at dusk shot Lufkin dead through an open window while the latter was conversing with a neighbor.

Miss Lufkin became very despondent and went to Chicago, where at the home of a married sister she committed suicide by cutting her throat with a razor. Rose was given three trials, his case going to the supreme court of the United States and the governor twice set the day for his execution.

Rose wrote a long letter to the press yesterday in which he charged a farmer named Slover with committing the murder.

Just the Reverse.

Under "protection" the rich man's luxuries are free and the poor man's necessaries are taxed. Under tariff reform these conditions are reversed.—Mansfield Shield.

THEY SEE THE SKIN GAME

Democratic Alliance Men Are Up to Snuff.

They Propose to Vote for Gov. Campbell.

A County Seat War in Ottawa County—A Political Review of the Situation Up to Date.

Port Clinton, Oct. 16.—(Special)—Politics is certainly in a bad mix in Ottawa county so far as local issues and men are concerned, although leading democrats here assert that Gov. Campbell will carry the county by not far from 1,500 majority.

There are others who think the people's party vote will reduce it below that figure. Since the Bee exposed the aims and purposes of Ottawa county republican-alliance leaders, the other day, many of the democratic-alliance men declare they will vote for Campbell.

The whole people's party campaign in this county so far as the republicans are concerned, is a big scheme to cut down the large democratic majority. There can be no doubt of this and democrats are getting to understand it. It would not be surprising if the people's party vote in Ottawa county would be quite small, because of the exposition of this conspiracy.

There is one very uncertain element in the politics of this county which unfortunately appears to be greater than parties and the candidates of parties. It is the all-absorbing issue, and before it all party issues sink into insignificance, and that is the county seat war.

Port Clinton has the county seat now, but Oak Harbor wants it and wants it badly. The question has always more or less been an issue in the county, and a vote was taken on the proposition of removing the capital to Oak Harbor nearly a quarter of a century ago. The proposition was defeated by a small majority then, but like Banquo's ghost the matter will not down.

Oak Harbor claims that as it is located somewhat near the center of the county, it ought to be the county seat, while Port Clinton says it has always been here, has the most and the best advantages, and that the capital should remain here. It is the east end of the county against the west, Oak Harbor against Port Clinton.

The trouble with the thing is that it is used for political capital by the politicians. If an east end man is nominated, the west end cries "Slaughter him, for he favors keeping the county seat at Port Clinton." If a west end man is named Port Clinton cries, "Down with him for he is an Oak Harbor man."

Unscrupulous and cunning republican politicians this year are making the most of this unfortunate state of affairs, and a man would verily be a prophet who could guess correctly as to the result.

Gov. Campbell and the state ticket will of course not be affected by the fight, but so far as the county ticket is concerned party lines are dropped. An effort has been made to inject Stewart's name into the fight, but it will hardly be successful as the democratic candidate for senator cannot assume other than a neutral attitude. He would be foolish indeed to pledge himself either way, and he has not done so, all republican assertions to the contrary notwithstanding. The attempt to gain votes for Van Horn by circulating the report that Stewart has pledged himself to either town has been skillfully engineered and the fine Italian hand of Jim Luckey is manifest. Jim is so anxious to defeat John Sherman, and so eager for the election of Van Horn, Foraker's friend, that he has overshot the mark, and his attempt will be fruitless.

The judicial canvass will in no wise be affected by the county seat war, and both Mills and Kelley will be before the people of Ottawa county on their respective merits. The rumor that the democrats of Port Clinton intend supporting Kelley is without foundation. Beyond a few personal friends, with whom he has been more or less associated in business, Mr. Kelley will get no votes outside of his own party. Judge Mills is loked upon here as an able jurist and splendid democrat. While Mr. Kelley is respected as a man, he has been a partisan, most zealous, and very bitter. He has never said anything of the democratic party, or of democrats, that would entitle him to democratic votes.

The same thing that the people of Huron have raised against him has been raised against him here. He has been the attorney of shooting clubs and has made himself very unpopular with sportsmen who have been driven from the marsh lands of this vicinity.

Ex-Representative Bense who was so active in the last general assembly as chairman of the finance committee, declares that he is out of politics. He is busily engaged in attending to his business interests and has but little time to devote to politics. "I am at a loss to know," said he to the Bee, "how much this county seat war will effect our county ticket. The democratic candidate for representative lives in the west end of the county, but if he assumes a neutral attitude he will have no trouble. Our candidate for county commissioner is also a west end man. He made a mistake, we think, by accepting a nomination for the same office from the people's party, so that some objection is raised to him. The matter will be straightened up, however, and the success of the ticket will not be jeopardized."

"How does Stewart stand with Ottawa county democrats?"

"He stands all right, but they are attempting to show that he has taken sides. I blame Jim Luckey for this, who, it seems to me, is endeavoring to 'play both ends against the middle,' as the boys say. He is trying to make capital out of our trouble in his eagerness to knock John Sherman out. The matter will not effect the campaign for common pleas judge. Mr. Kelley will get no votes from Port Clinton democrats outside of a few friends."

"How much strength will the people's party show in the county?"

"I think the way the matter stands now their vote will be very small. I am of the opinion that democrats understand the scheme, which has been a game of deception all the way through, and I do not believe that Seitz will have 200 votes in the county."

"How about Gov. Campbell?"

"He will have the usual majority and it may be increased. I think Gov. Campbell will be elected. When he was first nominated I was a little fearful, but he is growing in strength and I think he will beat McKinley by a handsome majority."

"Do you think the next general assembly will be democratic?"

"I believe it will be. The republican fight over the senatorship is so bitter in localities that they will likely lose the legislature because of it. If Campbell and a democratic legislature is elected it will be a magnificent victory. It only takes a change of a little over three votes to the precinct to give a fine democratic majority and I think at least that many votes will be changed on account of the tariff."

Mr. C. Gearnhart, one of the democratic leaders, said:

"The county is all right so far as the state ticket is concerned, but we are badly mixed upon our county affairs. This county seat fight is more desperate than it has been for years, and the result cannot be foretold. So far as Gov. Campbell is concerned he will have the usual majority. We are all for him."

Mr. J. W. Mizener, another democratic worker, said:

"Gov. Campbell will carry the county by nearly 1,500 majority. The people's party vote will not amount to much, and the rascality of republican alliance men is becoming more apparent every day. Ottawa county is always reliably democratic and will be in line as usual this year."

Mr. N. R. Webster, editor of the Ottawa County News, is of the opinion that the people's party will show up stronger than is generally anticipated.

"We are all for Gov. Campbell enthusiastically," said he, "and we think he will be elected. I do not think he will have more than last year's majority, however, owing to the people's party, which in my judgment will cast a rather large vote. Judge Mills stands well here and he will lose but few votes in this end of Ottawa county. The democrats who will not vote for him are personal friends to Mr. Kelley."

BILLY COOK'S BOND.

Proceedings to be Commenced Against His Sureties.

The city is to make an effort to collect from the bondsmen of W. H. Cook the amount of their sureties. These bondsmen of the defaulting clerk are P. H. Dowling, George H. Ketcham and the deceased I. N. Reed.

When questioned regarding the matter, City Solicitor Read stated that he is now preparing the papers in the suit and that they will be filed this week. "The reason this has not been done sooner," said he, "is because there was talk of a compromise and I had hopes that some settlement could be effected. All compromise is now off, however, and the bondsmen have declared that they will stand suit. Therefore I am preparing the papers and will try the case against the I. N. Reed estate first."

TOLEDO POST, G. A. R.

Veterans Enjoy a Social Hour at Memorial Hall.

Dr. Claypool's Novel and Opportune Program.

Scenes of the War and Faces of Departed, as Well as Living, Members Reproduced on Canvas.

The members of Toledo Post, G. A. R., friends and kindred members, were treated to a complete surprise and an evening's rare enjoyment at Memorial hall last evening.

Since the organization of this post, it has been the custom to give a social session during the first month of each quarter. This evening is devoted wholly to pleasure and entertainment of comrades and friends outside.

A month previous to these events a comrade is detailed to cater to the pleasure and enjoyment of the guests of the evening. On him is devolved the duty of arranging a program for the event in a manner he may devise, which is always kept secret, and the boys are kept in a quiver of anticipation all the while.

For this event Dr. Albert Claypool was appointed to procure amusement.

As usual a large audience was present and a murmur of surprise went up when Dr. Claypool stepped to the front after being introduced, and coolly ordered the janitor to turn out all the lights.

"The doctor has kept us in the dark for a month and is not satisfied yet," remarked some one in the audience, evidently a comrade.

After darkness prevailed, Dr. Claypool announced that he had obtained a series of stereopticon views, illustrating many of the notable events and scenes of the late war, including numerous sketches. The program would be opened by a song, "America," lead by the Whiting quartet, in which the audience would join. All present began to brighten up their memory to recall the words of the good old song, when a click, and lo and behold, words and music stood boldly forth from the large stretch of canvass in front. Everybody sang, and the rafters fairly rattled with the joyous music.

This was the first surprise, and from the time the operator began working his slides to the closing "Good night" number, there was continued exclamation of delight and appreciation.

"This evening's entertainment is given with the best wishes of Toledo Post to our friends and kindred members; permit me to introduce them," remarked Dr. Claypool. There was another click, a flash and upon the snowy surface of the canvass appeared a photographic group embracing an excellent likeness of each member of this popular organization. The effect can better be imagined than described.

After this notable events of the war, naval battles, lurid and realistic, prison life, camp life, in fact, the horrors of that great struggle were pictured to the audience as true to life, from beginning to end, with an effect startling and beautiful.

Just before the close Dr. Claypool stepped to the front, and in a few well chosen words paid a touching tribute to the memory of the departed comrades, four in number, Capt. Norton, Pliny Watson, Gen. Fuller and Gen. Lee. He then requested quietness for a few minutes, during which time a number would be devoted to "Departed Comrades." The quartet began singing low and sweet that beautiful hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee."

A vision of prismatic colored clouds appeared on the canvass, which an instant later began to slowly dissolve and in its place revealed, dim at first, the kindly features of Comrade Norton.

Another beautiful cloud appeared and vanished, and the countenance of Comrade Watson beamed on the audience. This disappeared as silently as it came, leaving another vision of beautiful clouds on the canvass. Slowly this faded away, and in its place came the picture true to life of Gen. Fuller.

Another vision of clouds was thrown on the canvass. This was a night scene. In the foreground was a wreath of silver clouds through which could be seen the sky and stars. This was gone in an instant, and Gen. Lee looked down upon the audience, as in life.

Dr. Claypool's admonition for absolute quietness was unnecessary. The audience was spell-bound with astonishment, and the sobs that could be heard in different parts of the hall spoke of the effect produced. The evening's entertainment will always be remembered by those who were so fortunate as to be present. Dr. Claypool was tendered a vote of thanks by the audience on the success of his surprise.

GOSSIP FROM TIFFIN.

A Little Boy Escapes a Horrible Death.

A Suit for Slander Filed—General News of Interest from a Busy Little Town.

Tiffin, O., Oct. 16.—(Special)—S. J. Longley, a trustee of Jackson township, brought a demented man to the city and lodged him in jail. The fellow had burst into Longley's house and created a commotion by rushing up stairs and leaping through a window to the ground. He gives his name as Wm. Bennett, of Findlay, and mutters incoherently of a crime which he is hunted for.

A petition was filed in common pleas court to-day by Anna Clouse against Matilda Kuhns and her husband Frank for slander. About a year ago Matilda is claimed to have uttered an expression reflecting on Miss Clouse's character, and it is alleged for the purpose of breaking up her engagement with a brother of Matilda.

Wm. Montgomery, an aged pioneer of Pleasant township, was fatally injured yesterday by a runaway team dragging a heavy wagon over his body, causing internal injuries.

Yesterday at Watson station, in this county, the 6-year-old son of Oliver S. Watson was run over by a 3,000-pound clover huller and escaped with a dislocated shoulder. The lad fell on a pile of sand, and this doubtless saved his life.

SHORT IN HIS ACCOUNTS.

Meriden, Conn., Oct. 16.—Hugo Crocker, cashier at the Meriden woolen mill, has disappeared and is said to be about $2,000 short in his accounts. Crocker's downfall is said to be largely due to gambling.

WAS A GIGANTIC STEAL.

New Features in the Adams Express Case.

Damaging Charges Against Hoey and Spooner.

An Examination of the Books of the Company Shows a Strange State of Affairs to Exist.

New York, Oct. 16.—Wall street is astonished by new revelations in the Adams express imbroglio and the hundreds of business and social friends of John Hoey, the deposed president, are, says a morning paper, pained to learn that he sold out every dollar's worth of his stock in the corporation just before the Boston Dispatch and Kinsley express negotiations. Clapp Spooner, the then vice president, was in the same transaction, and he, too, says the same paper, disposed of all his holdings in the company's shares prior to the turn which enriched him to the extent of $172,333. The committee of investigation was thunder-struck when these discoveries were made.

"Just think of it," said one of the managers of the company. "The president and vice president of the great Adams Express company sell all their stock and then buy certain property for the company, paying for it out of the treasury $700,000 more than it is worth." The speaker was excited, and before he cooled off he inadvertently dropped the remark that another gentleman, high in the councils of the company, was also implicated in what he called a very questionable transaction. "The corporation has been cheated out of a large sum of money," added the irate manager.

"You may say," explained President Sanford, as he dramatically drew up his tall form, "that the officers of this company will spare no effort to recover the large sums of money which have been unlawfully taken from the treasury."

"Will suits at law be instituted?" was asked.

"Undoubtedly."

"Will a criminal prosecution be attempted?"

"It may come to that. Mr. Hoey does not own a dollars' worth of stock," said the president. "I regret to say that this statement also applies to Mr. Spooner."

This was what the investigation revealed yesterday. The old president and vice president, soon after they went into office in 1888, actually sold out all their shares of stock and the same men made the trade by which the Adams Express acquired the Boston Dispatch company and Kinsley Express companies in New England for the sum of $850,000. The new officers find that Hoey and Spooner, who acknowledged in the supreme court before Judge Ingraham last April that they divided the sum of $700,000 profits on this deal, did not own a dollar's worth of stock at the time of the transaction nor for the past three years. Yet they held office during these years, until forced out, and the president has actually drawn nearly $90,000 salary since ceasing to be a shareholder. Henry C. Taft is said to be the fourth man involved in the deal, "number three" being incognito at present. The committee expects to unearth other queer things to-day, and they are prepared for any sort of a surprise.

"Is it any wonder that we wanted to get rid of those two men?" said a manager yesterday with indignation. "It is the most remarkable situation ever coming to my knowledge," he continued. "How two men with not a penny's worth of interest in a company with a capital of $21,000,000 could pocket their shares of a $700,000 deal and continue in office three years without discovery, passes my understanding. It was one of the cleverest and most audacious schemes of financiering in the history of Wall street. And now it is said that the law cannot reach the ex-president. The worst part of it is that we have discovered that we cannot collect a dollar from the two ex-officers, there are so many judgments already ahead of us."

Another morning paper states that Mr. Hoey was with his lawyers, Root & Clark, yesterday. When he came out on the street he looked careworn and his voice was husky. His son Frederick was with him. They were quite unwilling to talk.

"How I have been wronged and who have wronged me—all that," said Mr. Hoey, "will come out later. I shall make a statement, but not to-day."

"Will you make a fight to remain in the directorate?"

"I am still a member of the board of managers. Only the stockholders of the company can put me out. But what I shall do I will not say now."

All that Mr. Root would give out was this: "Mr. Hoey is a heavy stockholder in the company. He is one of the board of managers. He will protect his interests and his rights in either capacity. I understand that some legal action may be taken by those opposed to Mr. Hoey, and in that case it is manifestly improper that we should say anything now. Mr. Hoey has been greatly, grossly misrepresented. None of his side of the story has been told. But we are not in a position to tell it. That Mr. Hoey may, in fact doubtless will, tell himself. At any rate it would be very well to suspend judgment for a time at least."

FRANCE AND RUSSIA.

A Formal Treaty Is Under Discussion.

The Zweibund Wants to Place Itself on Equal Footing with the Dreibund in Case of War.

London, Oct. 16.—A Paris dispatch says that the French government is sounding the temper of the deputies on the question of a formal treaty with Russia and that, should the sentiment be favorable a draft of a written compact, which has already been made for submission to the czar, will be put in shape for that purpose. It is understood that nearly every deputy, irrespective of party affiliations, favors a binding treaty with Russia. The fraternization between the two countries has been greatly stimulated by the success of the Russian loan, under French direction. There is a rapidly growing intercourse and the number of wealthy Russians in Paris is greater now than for years past, while Russians engage with Frenchmen and Frenchmen with Russians in business enterprises.

BARKER HAD TO GO.

One of Tanner's "Re-Raters" Forced to Walk.

Washington, Oct. 16.—There was a red hot scene in one of the rooms of the pension office last Saturday evening, when Maj. William H. Barker, of New York, the chief of division who celebrated his re-rating under Tanner by spending a part of $2,500 arrears for a dinner party, at which Tanner, in an after-dinner speech, got off the historic remark: "Boys, I'm with you. My legs may be a little shaky, but, if my good right arm holds out, God help the surplus," took leave of his clerks.

He had been dismissed by order of Secretary Noble for borrowing money from his subordinates—women as well as men. He had great influence, even that of Assistant Secretary Bussey, whose relative he is and with whom he lived, beside that of Commissioner Raum, but he had to go, nevertheless.

FUNERAL OF H. T. STOCK.

The funeral of Mr. H. T. Stock took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock from his residence at 225 Twelfth street. The ceremony was conducted under the auspices of Sanford L. Collins lodge, F. and A. M., of which he was a member. There was a large atendance of friends at the funeral, as Mr. Stock's long residence here and business connections had made him many freinds and much sympathy is expressed for his bereaved family.

Mr. Stock's connection with dredge and vessel business is well known, but a fact that is not so familiar is that he was the first man to successfully construct a steam shovel or dredge and which was operated on the Welland canal.

GOV. CAMPBELL TO-NIGHT.

He Will Speak at Memorial Hall.

Toledoans Turn Out and Give the People's Champion a Rousing Reception—McKinley, of New York, Also Speaks.

This evening the second grand democratic rally will take place at Memorial hall, and it will be necessary to put in an early appearance in order to secure a seat.

The speakers of the evening are Governor James E. Campbell and Hon. Andrew J. McKinley, of New York.

The canvass being made by the governor is giving hope to every democrat, and the telling speeches made cannot fail to convince. Victory is almost certain.

Governor Campbell is at Bowling Green this afternoon, and will arrive over the T., C. & C. at 6:40. He will be met at the depot by Chairman Parks Hone and others and escorted to the Boody. After supper he will be conducted to Memorial hall.

Mr. Byron F. Ritchie, as energetic and enthusiastic a democrat as can be found in Ohio, will preside and introduce the governor and Mr. McKinley. The executive committee has notified the vice-presidents of their appointment, and they are requested to occupy seats on the platform.

MANTELL TO-NIGHT.

His First Production of Hamlet in Toledo.

His Three Performances in Toledo—Attractions Next Week—Plenty of Comedy and Fun.

Robert Mantell who has always been a favorite in Toledo will appear at Wheeler's Opera House this evening in Hamlet. This is the first time Mr. Mantell has presented that character here and much interest is being manifested in the performance. In his conception of the character of Hamlet it has been said regarding Mantell's first production that he has original ideas regarding some scenes. Particularly this is true in the scene with the ghost when he follows the spectre from the stage. He does not rant, but speaks his lines with clearness and in an earnest manner. The soliloquy "To be or not to be," in the third act was delivered in an able manner. It is a soliloquy that many actors make hideous by their ranting. The scene with Ophelia was touching and exceedingly well rendered, but he reached the zenith of his greatness in the scene with his mother. The scene, too, at the grave of Ophelia was impressive, and the audience left the theater fully impressed that they had seen a great actor.

To-morrow afternoon he will present a double bill consisting of the Louisianian and a Lesson in Acting. In the evening the Corsican Brothers will be produced. Mantell has appeared here before in the latter play, and his work has always been pleasing.

A Comedy Week.

Next week will be a rare comedy season for Toledo theater goers, and enough fun will be on tap to chase the blues away for all winter. Frank M. Wills in Two Old Cronies will hold forth all week at the People's with a strong company. The new musical facre comedy, A High Roller, will be presented at Wheeler's Monday evening by a company whose members number many well known people, and on Thursday Donnelly and Girard in Natural Gas, whose merits need no comment, will be at Wheeler's. Music, laughter and fun for the week will make a great treat.

RESULTED IN MURDER.

A Sensational Shooting Scrape in the South.

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 16.—Dr. Seymour Bullock, of this city, was killed yesterday at Navy Cove, by Thomas P. Brewer, also of Mobile. The two were for years intimate friends but of late they have not been on speaking terms. The men were out fishing yesterday in different boats and no one knows how the quarrel, which resulted in the shooting, arose. Brewer refuses to talk. Dr. Bullock was born in New York. He was well and favorably known all along the gulf coast, both as an orator and a poet.

TWO OIL GUSHERS.

Toledo Operators Make a Big Strike in Wood County.

Oil is booming again in Wood county, and territory is out of sight.

A number of phenomenal strikes have been made and two local operators are in it, as the saying goes.

The Baumgardner Brothers drilled in a well on their territory near Cygnet yesterday and to-day. It made a showing for 1,500 barrels.

John Ware drilled in one on his farm near Bowling Green yesterday, which is estimated to be doing over 2,000 barrels.

THE PRESIDENT'S BOAT.

The United States steamer Despatch, which has gone to wreck in the coast storm, has something of a pedigree:

When first built, it was the crack yacht of a Wall street broker. Financial reverses, however, forced him to dispose of it to the government. It was devoted to the use of the president and was the first vessel to ever hoist his flag, the arms of the United States on a blue ground and surmounted by a crescent of 13 stars. Since the time of President Grant it has carried all the chief executives upon their tours of official duty. As guests it has carried all the leading official visitors to this country, and its cabins could tell of many witty repartees and grave discussions.—Boston Herald.

Stand by Your Colors.

Democrats should not lose sight of the fact that the way to success is to stand by your colors. There is nothing to be accomplished by voting outside of the party. Republicans who have become dissatisfied with the tendency of that party to legislating for the benefit of class, will in all probability let their influence be silently felt when they go to the polls to vote, and the probabilities are that the democratic vote will be augmented beyond anticipation.—Wapakoneta Democrat.

Very Much of A Farce.

That Piqua tin plate factory has become the leading farce of the campaign and the Piqua Leader is "rubbing it in" on the McKinleyites unmercifully.—Champaign Democrat.

Angier's Petroleum Emulsion
WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES

Dr. M. C. BISSELL, Limestone, N. Y., says: "I find, in wasting diseases, a gain of flesh and strength, and a generally improved condition follows the use of Angier's Petroleum Emulsion. In both incipient and advanced stages of consumption, as in all other Throat and Lung Diseases, I depend upon it to accomplish all that anything can. I have used it with best results in treating Chronic Bronchitis and Pneumonia."

It is far superior to Cod Liver Oil, and totally unlike all other Emulsions. It is doing really more than could be expected of a medicine.

A House Surgeon of a Detroit Hospital says: "We cheerfully endorse Angier's Petroleum Emulsion as a food and medicine."

A clear complexion is usually the result of health—not of cosmetics.

Cosmetics can be used in moderation to advantage, but they are never so perfect as the bloom which good health imparts.

A clear complexion is usually the result of good circulation, and good circulation is the steady flow of the blood through the system.

When the blood is sluggish and the mind depressed nothing is so beneficial as a pure medicinal stimulant, and nothing so thoroughly stimulates the circulation or keeps it in regular and perfect order as pure whiskey.

While there are many so-called whiskeys there is only one that is admitted to be a purely medicinal one; namely, Duffy's Pure Malt.

Druggists and grocers may try to argue to the contrary because they make more money on cheap and inferior goods, but it is always best to bear in mind that the one which has been tested, tried and proven by experience is the only certain one.

A frequently recurring headache, a bad appetite and sleeplessness are solemn warnings that you must heed. Dyspepsia is not a thing to make fun of."

Within 48 hours in Oregon a soda water deposit has been discovered in the Nehalem valley, near Veronia; a soap mine has been found near Chadwell on Lewis and Clarke's; crystal springs of the purest water are bubbling up on the hillside in Astoria; gold is being dug out on Genevieve street, and coal on West Eighth street in the same city.

Men who are worth more than some kingdoms must pay for the benefits of living and the security of doing business. Rothschilds at Frankfort-on-the-Main, pay the city $83,000 annual taxes, and yet it is probable that the humblest man there pays a heavier tax in proportion to his wealth than do these millionaires.

A fond mother in New York was describing her lost baby at police headquarters, when the little tot, who had been hiding behind the captain's desk, popped up his curly head and greeted her with: "Hello, mamma; I'se been found." He had been found asleep on a railroad track the night before, and was rescued as a train was bearing down on him.

The last resting places of two famous Indian chiefs—Black Hawk and Pontiac—have become a topic of interest in the western newspapers. Pontiac's bones are believed to lie very nearly beneath the site of the Southern hotel in St. Louis, having been interred there in 1769, just after his assassination by an Indian spy, and five years after the founding of St.

The gray fog is deceptive. The French are now painting their war vessels a dull sulphurous gray, exactly the color of smoke as it arises from cannons. They say this color has the advantage of being as illusive and indistinguishable in fogs and sea mists and darkness as during the smoke of battle. It is more baffling to the search light than any other tint.

A timid man, living alone in the outskirts of Hartford, has hit upon a novel devise for scaring away burglars. Each night upon retiring he places a huge pair of boots outside of every bed room door in the house to convey the impression that every chamber is occupied by an able-bodied man. A burglar who happened in would think he had struck a hotel.

We have been strawberried, meloned, peached, summer-appled and peared to repletion, and now comes word from the Florida groves that we are to be oranged to our heart's content. The crop is estimated at from 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 baskets, and it is expected that the price will be low. If fruit juices are good for the blood we ought to be a full-blooded people this year.

From his letter to the New York Sun, it is said that Moncure D. Conway is not able to agree with those good people who are praying for the pardon of Mrs. Maybrick, and he thinks our government might be in better business than asking for the release of a woman who escaped the gallows only through the popular sentiment which recoiled from the barbarity of strangling a fair neck.

The Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria has received a curious present from a tourist agency in Palestine. It is a bagful of earth taken from the Mount of Olives, and is meant to be placed in the archduke's coffin when he dies. Earth from this sacred spot is believed to preserve mortal remains with which it is buried. The gift will be devoted to the use which the giver designed.

A remarkable juvenile offender has come to light in Los Angeles, Cal. He is but 15 years old and recently confessed to firing a hotel. He now admits having set fire to a church, a Chinese laundry, a stable, a grocery store and a fire engine house, which he first burglarized while the force was away fighting one of his conflagrations. He says he set fire to the church because his Sunday school teacher was overbearing with him.

Two examples of the big tree of California are growing in Central park, New York. They stand on the grassy bluff just west of the Bethesda fountain, near the terrace and mall. Neither is more than eight inches in circumference, and, although they have been standing in that spot for 25 years, they are not more than that many feet in height. From this you may infer the vast age of those vast monarchs of the forest which may be seen on the Pacific slope.

Many oriental cities, like most Indian villages, have more dogs than human creatures within their limits, and until a month ago Singapore was a notable instance, and was infested with a perfect plague of dogs, mostly curs. Several cases of hydrophobia occurred during August, which inaugurated a panic and a wholesale slaughter of the dogs. Up to August 28 over 13,000 dogs had been killed and 1,500 registered, and at latest reports the work of extermination was still going vigorously on.

In July, 1888, came that terrible explosion in Japan which blew the mountain of Bandai San into the air, killing many people, while the fragments of the shattered mountain falling into the rivers dammed them so completely that three large lakes were formed. The agricultural land was ruined by the ashes and lava that covered it. The great calamity seems to be providing its own compensation, for most of the men of that district have turned their attention to fishing in the three new lakes, which are said to teem with fish of various kinds. They are thus beginning to recoup themselves in a measure for the loss they sustained by the eruption.

Only ten years ago the people of Uganda and Victoria Nyanza, Africa, were almost unknown to the world, yet it is surprising to read that the missionaries there recently sold in a few weeks 4,000 reading sheets printed in the native language. They send word that they could sell 10,000 copies at once if they had them. They say the people are most anxious to acquire the art of reading and that their eagerness for books is astonishing. "As long as we had a reading sheet or a book left," writes one, "a crowd swarmed around us day and night and hundreds were disappointed when the supply gave out."

IT IS NON-PARTISAN.

The Ohio W. C. T. U. Indorses No Party.

An Interesting Debate on the Resolutions Adopted—Reports from Superintendents of Departments.

Mrs. H. E. Hammond, of Cleveland, led the devotional exercises with which the state W. C. T. U. convention opened yesterday afternoon.

The amount of business which followed, and which was transacted with promptitude, decorum and excellent business tact is in itself an eulogium upon the ability of women in convention to do business as business should be done. President Monroe exercised the duties of her difficult position ably, firmly and kindly, and the expedition with which business is transacted is largely due to her ability as chairman.

A report was made from the executive session of the noon hour, the principal feature of which was the recommendation that a committee of five be appointed to wait, as fraternal delegates upon the General Assembly of the Knights of Labor which convenes in this city in November. The report was adopted, and the following committee, all Toledo ladies, was appointed:

Mrs. Franklin Hubbard, First union; Mrs. Louise Eck, Central union; Mrs. Frances J. Sumner, Willard union; Mrs. D. E. Jones, Woodbridge union; Miss Jessie Foster, for the Ys.

The committee on revision of the constitution reported, and a resolution offered at last convention, defining and increasing the power of the board of trustees, and enabling them to hold property belonging to the state W. C. T. U. was adopted.

The report of the trustees for last year was then read and received.

The following departments were reported upon by their respective presidents:

Scientific Temperance Instruction, Mrs. Frances W. Leiter.

Franchise, Mrs. Maria G. Frost.

Social Purity, Miss Jennie L. Olmstead.

Sabbath School Work, Mrs. Alice M. Terrell.

Mother Stewart was given ten minutes in which to present her "Memories of the Crusade," and those interested in that unique movement will be glad to learn she has embodied the history of it in a book which is included in the W. C. T. U. literature.

The plan of work committee reported, but the report was referred back for condensation, as a good deal had been added to it since it left the committee which had to be boiled down.

Resolutions Adopted.

The committee on resolutions reported through its chairman, Mrs. Alice E. H. Peters, of Columbus, and the following is the substance of the resolutions adopted:

1. Thanking God for the success of the W. C. T. Union organizations.
2. Co-operating with the National Reform association in their effort to have the name of God inserted in the constitution of the United States.
3. Demanding in the name of God, the ballot for women, and pledging co-operation to the Ohio Suffrage association.
4. Urging the reading of the Bible in the public schools and all educational institutions.
5. Petitioning the Columbian exposition to prohibit the sale of liquors on the grounds and to close the gates on the Lord's day.
6. Authorizing departmental organizations by routes in the waste places of the state, for instruction in the methods, plans and aims of the various departments of the W. C. T. U. work.
7. Urging all unions of the state to make special effort to form Loyal legions, as the education of the children in temperance is of paramount importance.
8. Co-operating with the state in the enforcement of the scientific temperance educational law.
9. Demanding that in all reformatories and state institutions women be under the supervision of their own sex, and that women paupers and criminals be sheltered in buildings entirely separated from men.
10. Resolving that W. C. T. U. women will constantly wear the white ribbon.
11. Demanding equal pay for equal work for women with men.
12. Petitioning our legislature to establish a sanitarium for medical treatment of victims of alcohol and narcotics.
13. Protesting against sending liquors to uncivilized and heathen lands.
14. Pledging influence against the use of fermented wines at church sacraments, and pledging the members to refrain from partaking of it when offered.
15. Urging all Ws and Ys and Loyal Legions to individually secure members on Sept. 28, Frances Willard's birthday.
16. Deploring the increasing use of narcotics, and pledging increased warfare against the great evil.
17. Respectfully asking the Ohio press to refrain from publishing salacious and obscene details in their reports of police court and other criminal proceedings, which are read by the children as well as by older persons.
18. Tendering the sympathy of the convention to President Monroe in the deep affliction which she has sustained in the loss of her beloved and talented daughter, Dr. Juliette Monroe Thorpe.
19. Extending thanks to the citizens of Toledo for generous hospitalities; to the Union of Unions of Toledo for their bountiful luncheons; to the press of the city for courteous reports; to the pastors for co-operation; to the trustees of the First Congregational church for the use of the building; to railroads for reduced rates; to the street car conductors for their universal kindness; to the music committee for their services, and to all who have contributed to the comfort and pleasure of the convention.

These resolutions having been considered and adopted, a delegate from the rear rose to ask if the work of the committee and of the convention was done, and if there was to be no official indorsement by the Ohio W. C. T. U. of the prohibition party.

This brought on the very liveliest discussion of the whole convention, as it was found the delegates were quite evenly divided. The call for such a resolution promptly brought to the front "Mother Stewart," who offered the following:

In consideration of the fact that it has become patent that the old parties do not propose to give us any legal relief from the liquor curse, and that there is a party in the field whose purpose and labors are given for the total prohibition of the liquor traffic, therefore,

Resolved, That we, the Ohio W. C. T. U., pledge our support to the prohibition party.

A motion to adopt this resolution received numerous seconds, and a rising vote seemed to carry the resolution.

A strong appeal was immediately made for deliberation in the consideration of this most important action. The chair, recognizing that time for remarks had not been given, declared the resolution before the convention again.

Mrs. Peters, of Columbus, then offered the following amendment:

Resolved, That we adhere to the principle of prohibition irrespective of party.

This amendment also received several seconds, and the debate went on. Many of the delegates felt that not to declare for the prohibition party was to recede from the principles of the W. C. T. U. Others reasoned that the effective work of the W. C. T. U. was only possible if it declared itself, and remained non-partisan as well as non-sectarian.

This position was ably maintained by Mrs. Peters and other ladies from Franklin county, who insisted that further W. C. T. U. work was impossible in their section unless the non-partisan stand was maintained. Finally the following substitute was offered and passed, which is in effect Mrs. Peters' resolution clothed in a few more words:

Resolved, That we reaffirm our loyalty to the brave men of our state and nation who give their influence, their prayers, and their votes for the protection of our homes.

During this debate the delegates were several times checked in demonstrations of applause which were long and loud, as their varying views were stated from the floor. Some strong manifestations of disapproval were also made. The utmost harmony prevailed throughout, however, and the decision of the majority is generally recognized to be a wise one.

LAST NIGHT'S SESSION.

Toledo Will Hold the Social Purity Banner.

The largest audience that has yet greeted any session of the convention gathered in the First Congregational church last evening, filling the main floor from pulpit to door, and the galleries as well, an audience of women mainly.

Devotional exercises were conducted by Miss Jennie Smith, the railroad worker. After Scripture reading Miss Smith gave a moving narration of the first occasion on which she was upon a public platform, when she was lifted there upon the invalid couch to which she was for many years confined.

Miss N. Eva Wickerham, of West Union, who has been studying music in Cincinnati, rendered with charming effect the solo, "Sometime, Somewhere," the words by Browning, music by Bischoff.

Miss Jennie L. Olmstead, of Deshler, state superintendent of the department of Social Purity, then brought to the rostrum a beautiful banner which, in the name of her department she presented to the state organization.

The banner was of the old gold plush, embroidered in white with the shield and cross, the letters "O W. C. T. U.," and Miss Willard's motto, "Latest and greatest crusade." Pledging for herself from this night "a whiter life and greater social purity," which the banner symbolizes she asked those of the congregation who would join her in the pledge to arise, which most of the great audience did.

On behalf of the state organization the treasurer, Miss Emma L. Goodwill, of Canton, accepted the banner, which she then in turn presented to Mrs. Frances J. Sumner, president of the Union of Unions of Toledo, the only union of unions in the state. She charged Mrs. Sumner to guard it carefully and to bring it to the next state convention, there to be turned over to the keeping of the unions which should next entertain the state convention.

Mrs. Sumner, to whom this disposal of the banner was a great surprise, was escorted to the rostrum, and took the banner in charge, faithfully promising to do what was requested of her.

The Problem of the Future.

President Monroe then introduced the speaker of the evening by saying that it was entirely unnecessary to present Rev. Anna H. Shaw to a Toledo audience. The rounds of applause with which Miss Shaw was greeted quite confirmed the statement. Time deals gently with this favorite speaker among women. She looks not a day older than when she first addressed Toledo people, and her eye is as sharp as when she was last here, as is also the keen edge of her sarcasm.

The speaker began with an apology, being another woman to arrive at the convention with her trunk left behind on the road. It was not a dress she mourned, however, but a note-book in the trunk, for in the book was jotted down the heads of the discourses she had before given in this city, and not having that she feared she might be guilty of repetition. She comforted herself with the thought that if the address was the same the audience was probably a different one, as she had noticed that men who once listened to a temperance speech did not come again, and the temperance orator always had a new audience.

As all men in Ohio were awakened up to attending conventions and listening to speeches in these election times, she expected a good turn-out of men to hear her, and had intended to address them specially. But as counting showed her six men on one side of the house, and she could see one on the other, she would talk to the women upon "The Problem of the Future," and ask what are we women going to do.

Had she been advertised to speak upon free silver coinage or tin-plate, the church would have been so filled with men that the women would have had to stand upon the sidewalk. But because she talked upon home protection and child protection, the protection of virtue and of purity, the brethren were conspicuous by their absence. Yet the men complain because the women get excited about these things. If the women did not, who would?

Thousand and thousands of men gather to discuss the great questions they discussed over and over again three years ago. Then the cry was "more protection," and the changes were rung on salt, lumber, pig iron and wool—wool, pig iron, lumber and salt. Not a woman, boy or girl had been benefited by that kind of protection, or could be, unless it was Lot's wife.

Protection and silver were again the great questions. The democrats are talking free trade and free silver, and saying as little about the latter as possible. The republicans were talking the McKinley bill and restricted coinage, and saying very little about the bill. Protection of industries and of currency are great questions, but so are the great social questions which the parties avoid, and which are pressing on us for solution, and which must soon be attended to or mob law and violence will rule.

As an illustration of a woman's ability to see where politics comes in, a knowledge which it is generally denied she can attain, Miss Shaw reviewed the proceedings of the liquor dealers' convention in New York, and the mayor's address of welcome on that occasion.

What can women hope for at the hands of public authority, which bows to the liquor traffic elsewhere as well as in New York? Failing help from public authority what can woman do? Shall they pray? Even Dr. Balkley would grant this, provided they did not pray in his presence. Shall they weep? They have passed their lives in weeping.

All women have accomplished they have gained through prayer, but what can women do with this weapon against such men as these in New York? The politician fears more, and pays more respect to, one hundred men's votes than he fears or cares for all the prayers of all the women in all the churches of all the land.

She would have women pray, but she would have them exercise the rational sense of believing in the prayers they offer, and that the answer to the prayers comes in the strength to go on and do more aggressive work in the future.

When women ask God to abolish the saloons the instant answer is, "I will; be it done," and in the hands of man is the weapon of destruction. It is only to use the weapon, and the prayer is answered. He will wait, and let us suffer until we use the weapon he has furnished.

What shall women do, if she must keep out of politics as she has always been told she must, and as she has always wanted to do? Sometimes women do desperate things. The case was cited of a woman in Lathrop, Mich., whose home the husband drank up, who took in washing and supported her children and did nothing else, until she was told her boy 14 years old lay dead drunk in a saloon. Then she took an ax, and went to the saloon and smashed the bottles, and the barrels and everything else. And this was heralded in the press, religious and secular, as "Wanton destruction of private property." But no one said it is destruction of private property when a saloon keeper takes a 14 year old boy, and destroys him body and soul.

We hear all wrongs in this country can be righted at the polls, but the only pole a woman can use is such a one as the woman at Lathrop used.

If mothers have any right under heaven it is the right to protect their children. But though we hear too much about protection to infant industries, no one does anything for the protection of the infant industry of rearing infants. This is the legitimate business of women, and it is the legitimate business of government to protect them in it. Would to God that not another child be born in this country until the men of the country stand up and declare to its mothers that these children shall be protected until they reach the years of discretion.

"As I rode through your city of beautiful homes, for they are beautiful and you do not all live in brick blocks, I saw three Police Gazettes in one window," said the speaker. She deplored the debasing of the minds of the young by news and theater bulletins, the worst feature of the day next to the saloons. The boy the papers told of a few days ago, 10 years old, who stole $75 from his father, a revolver and bowie knife, and was found walking the railroad track, going west to scalp Indians, is the result of this false standard of manhood. To scalp Indians or somebody else is the ideal we set before him in our literature and our theaters.

There has been too much talk about woman's sphere and mother's influence. It is the influence of right manhood and of father's example that is needed. A boy is a boy, and he wants to be a man, he does not want to be a woman. If the father gets drunk and the mother takes in washing, the boy will follow in the father's steps, let the mother try ever so hard to influence him. Woman and man are equal, but woman and man are not identical, and children cannot spare the good influences of both without loss.

Why does the boy smoke a cigarette? Because he likes it? Not a bit of it. No boy ever liked a first smoke. He smokes because men do, and so he thinks it manly. If only women smoked cigarettes, a boy would no more go down the street smoking one than he would go out in his mother's sun-bonnet.

It takes more than a mother to make home what it should be. She is only one factor, and needs her complement to make the perfect home. With the taint of heredity, the father's example, and the customs of society against her it is too much, it is cowardice, to throw all responsibility upon her.

It is not true and it never was true to say "The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world." Let men shut up the saloons and keep the streets free from social impurities, keep them as clean as the hand that rocks the cradle keeps the cradle and the home, and the great work of reform will be accomplished.

But if all responsibility is to be thrust upon woman, then put in her hands the weapon to fight these evils, and it will be done. Justice and reason can grant no less to the one held responsible for the protection of home and children.

This talk to a lot of women was made upon the principle that a married woman tells her husband all she knows the speaker said, and if all the women went home and did as she asked them to do there was many a curtain lecture in Toledo last night.

Last of all the speaker reaffirmed her convictions that if men remain absorbed in financial questions, if responsibility for home and children must be thrust on woman solely, woman must have a vote in making the government. Until she gets it she must go on teaching and preaching, as she is so nobly doing in the W. C. T. U.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

There Is a Vast Deal of Work Being Done.

Bright and early this morning the W. C. T. U. ladies gathered in the convention church, and after invoking strength from on high in devotional exercise entered upon the work of the day.

The session opened a half hour earlier than usual, and the extra time was devoted to praying for the police of Toledo, Mrs. T. K. Doty, of Cleveland, leading, and all the Toledo delegates joining in fervently if silently.

Papers offered by superintendents of departments, read and accepted, were as follows:

Parlor meetings, Mrs. Maria M. Powell, read by the secretary.

Infirmary and insane asylums, Mrs. S. M. Perkins.

Mercy department, Mrs. L. A. Irons.

Physical culture, Mrs. Frances W. Leiter.

Hygiene, Miss Belle Linkmyer, M. D.

The report of the committee on credential committee was submitted at this juncture, through the secretary, Mrs. Clevenger. Fortunately, it was not disputed, as that would have been awkward at this late date.

The report showed there were present: Delegates, 301; general officers, 4; vice-presidents, 21; superintendents, 11; assistant superintendent, 1; organizers, 4; trustee, 1. Total, 343.

Election of Officers.

All other business was now deferred and the election of officers was undertaken, Mrs. H. E. Hammond, of Cleveland, taking the chair.

The constitution requiring an informal ballot for president, the tellers collected the same, with the following result:

Mrs. H. E. Hammond, Cleveland—17.
Mrs. H. L. Monroe, Xenia—268.
Mrs. F. W. Leiter, Mansfield—11.
Mrs. Lida Romick, Cleveland—20.
Miss Emma L. Goodwin, Canton—12.
Scattering—4.
Whole number of votes—332.

On motion the informal ballot was made formal, and Mrs. Monroe declared elected.

On motion Mrs. Perkins, of Cleveland, was made a committee to escort the president to the platform, where she was greeted with the Chatauqua salute, and made an eloquent speech of thanks and good counsel.

The other elections resulted as follows;

Corresponding secretary—Mrs. A. H. Clevenger, Wilmington, 216; Mrs. H. E. Hammond, Cleveland, 114, electing Mrs. Clevenger, and the Chatauqua salute was again given, followed by the speech of acceptance.

Recording secretary—Mrs. E. E. Mason, Wauseon, 69; Miss Anna Pollock, president of the Ys of Newark, 224, electing Miss Pollock. The salute was given and a beautifully brief speech followed.

Treasurer—Miss Emma L. Goodwill, Canton, elected by acclamation, but declined to serve, stating that she had given the association one year of solid work. She believed in the health department, and meant to practice what she preached. She warned the association that the amount of work to be done required too much work, and if the association was to be a killing institution they should not kill her. In spite of the protests Miss Goodwill declined to serve.

Treasurer—Mrs. Estelle Turdum, Chillicothe, was then chosen treasurer.

All the officers are from southern Ohio. This section of the state has no general officers.

Plan of Work.

The following is in substance the plan of work which will guide the work of the W. C. T. U. in the coming year:

Circulating petitions, interviewing legislators, and doing all possible to secure school suffrage the coming winter.

The W. C. T. U. to withdraw its patronage from establishments where working girls are not properly paid; also from all places where liquor is sold as a beverage.

To employ two state organizers, and establish a lecture bureau.

To have county organizations take up all the work now done in districts, and abolish districts.

To push the Peace department, the Juvenile work, Scientific Temperance work, and to have the law concerning narcotics enforced.

To urge the discontinuance of vivesection in class rooms where physiology is taught.

Urging visitation and Lord's day services at infirmaries and insane asylums.

To increase the circulation of the Messenger.

ANOTHER ORGANIZATION.

The Women of Toledo Are Very Much Awake.

A meeting of the earnest and thoughtful women of the city is being held this afternoon at the rooms of the Law Kindergarten to consider the woman suffrage question. The address is being delivered by the Rev. Anna H. Shaw, and an organization will be effected which, it is hoped, shall include all the women who are not in the organization already in existence.

The meeting is under the auspices of the State Suffrage association, and Mrs. E. S. Fray, the district vice-president, is present.

Notes.

Mother Stewart spoke in the African M. E. church to a large audience last night.

Another suffrage society in Toledo will be one of the outgrowths of the state convention.

Rev. Anna H. Shaw's arrival yesterday afternoon was welcomed with the Chautauqua salute.

After the convention adjourned yesterday afternoon a large number of the delegates, piloted by Mrs. Louise Eck, visited Matron Coates at the police station.

Mrs. S. S. Baker, representing the "White Ribboner," official organ of the Thirteenth district, composed of Delaware and Morrow counties, attended the convention yesterday.

Rev. Anna H. Shaw addressed the woman's congress that is in session at Grand Rapids, Mich., Wednesday afternoon. Delegates were present from all the woman's organizations in the country.

The reports of the department superintendents were very interesting both as showing the amount of work done, and the thoroughness with which the W. C. T. U. is organized to reach out for every avenue by which their reforms can be secured. Mrs. Leiter's exposition of the efforts to secure observance of the law calling for Scientific Temperance instruction was an able one. Miss Olmstead's adress on Social Purity was thrilling in its intensity and unstudied eloquence.

HELP BUT DON'T COERCE.

To help nature in its efforts to throw off the trammels of disease is, of course, the legitimate method of medication. This method is, unfortunately, too often diverged from and help perverted into coercion. Drastic, excessive purging is undoubtedly the most frequent form of coercion of this sort. The bowels are forced, literally wrenched into action. Of course this is accompanied with much griping pain, and succeeded by exhaustion, which leaves the organs of evacuation in a state incompatible with subsequent regularity and activity. The last state of that man or woman who uses drastic cathartics for constipation is decidedly worse than the first. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the finest laxative in existence, since it produces the needful but not abnormal action, is progressive, not abrupt in operation, and strengthens instead of weakening the organs upon which it acts. Use it for malarial, kidney, rheumatic and dyspeptic ailments.

City Auditor's Office.

Toledo, O., Oct. 15, 1891.

The committee on ways and means of the Common Council of the city of Toledo Ohio, and the undersigned invite sealed proposals at this office to at 7 o'clock p. m. for the purchase of sewer improvement bonds, to the amount of one thousand six hundred and fifty ($1,650 00) dollars, bearing date August 10, 1891, and payable as follows: Two hundred and seventy-five dollars on February 10, 1892, and two hundred and seventy-five dollars at the expiration of every six months thereafter, to and including August 10, 1894. At the office of the city treasurer, with interest at the rate of five (5) per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually at the same place as evidenced by coupons to be attached to said bonds.

Said improvement bonds are issued pursuant to section 2380 of the revised statutes of the state of Ohio, as amended April 16, 1880, and also under an ordinance of the Common Council of the city of Toledo Ohio. "To provide for the issue of improvement bonds to pay the cost and expense of the improvement of sewer No. 359 situate in the district lying between Bancroft street, Page street and between Kent street and the alley between Franklin avenue and Vermont avenue,—passed September 21, 1891.

Bidders will be required to state the gross amount they will pay for the bonds besides the accrued interest to date of delivery at Toledo, Ohio. They will also be required to deposit with each bid an amount of money or a certified check on some responsible bank equal to at least five (5) per centum of the par value of the bonds, so bid for, as a guarantee of good faith, and that the bid so made (if successful) will be fulfilled in accordance with the terms thereof, and the requirements of the law and ordinances. When the bids have been examined, and the award made according to law, all monies or checks deposited as guarantees shall be returned to the depositor, or held by the city auditor subject to his call, except that of the successful bidder, which shall be held and considered, and accepted as part payment of the bonds so awarded or sold, but should there be any repudiation of the contract or agreement, or refusal to accept and pay for the bonds so sold then and in that case the deposit shall be forfeited to the city of Toledo, and shall become the property of said city, in compensation for loss and expenses attending the sale of said bonds and as liquidated damages for repudiation of bid. And no bid will be received if not accompanied by money or check aforesaid.

NEW POLICE MATRON

Confirmed by the Council in Joint Session.

Contractors Make a Demand for Money Due.

Red Hot Session of the Ways and Means Committee—Another Railroad Fight—Important Committee Business.

Police Matron Coates must go, and that at once. Mayor Emmick has so decreed, and last evening the council in joint session assembled confirmed his decree.

The councilmen met in joint session last evening to confirm several appointments, and among them was one appointing Mrs. Angelina Stebbins police matron in place of Miss Coates. This was unanimously confirmed by the board without any discussion.

Mrs. Stebbins is the wife of the engineer at the station.

When questioned regarding the matter, Mayor Emmick stated that Mrs. Stebbins' appointment would take effect immediately, as Miss Coates had already held her place for two weeks over the year.

Other appointments confirmed were H. C. Ellis and E. W. Tolerton, as members of the board of elections.

Emory D. Potter, jr., member of the board of park commissioners.

Robert Cummings, board of trustees soldiers' monumental building.

I. N. Huntsberger, member of the Manual Training School board.

This was the only business before the joint session and was quickly transacted.

* * *

After the joint session had adjourned the ways and means committee met, and Auditor Walker brought up the matter of October pay rolls for which there is no money, as mentioned in yesterday's Bee.

On motion of Mr. Macomber the auditor was authorized to sell a portion of the sanitary bonds in order to meet the obligations of that department.

On motion of Mr. Morris the auditor was instructed to issue short-time certificates of indebtedness to cover the other shortages.

Contractor John R. Miller appeared before the committee and asked that something be done in the matter of several street improvements, the money for which is past due, yet the bonds have not been advertised. He explained how the contractors had paid parties to buy the bonds that had been sold. He then mentioned several improvements, the money for which was over due, yet the bonds had not even been advertised and the contractors had been given no opportunity to get their money. He especially called attention to the intersection bonds on Washington street and Lenk street. The money for these had been due on Aug. 9 and 30 respectively. The improvement bonds for that part of the work which was assessed on the property owners had been sold and the money paid, but the intersection bonds amounting to over $10,000 had not been advertised.

Auditor Walker stated that the city engineer was behind in getting out the papers and final estimates, therefore he could not issue the bonds. He said that the engineer was behind on 26 lots of bonds.

Mr. Miller insisted on knowing why the Washington and Lenk street intersection bonds had not been sold at the same time as the bonds for the main portion of the improvement. The engineer had made these papers out. The contractors, he said, made their contracts with the city in good faith, and it was provided that the work should be paid for within 90 days after the completion of the improvement, yet the city is behind on a number of streets.

In regard to the intersection bonds, Auditor Walker claimed that he could not make out and sell bonds in small lots from $800 to $5,000, and he was holding them back until the aggregate should be such an amount to make a respectable issue of bonds, which would sell better. He also scored the legislation which require these intersection bonds to be made out separately, and considered it an outrage on both the contractors and the city. This legislation, by the way, was some of Mr. Griffin's work which has been so expensive to the city's funds and credit.

This, however, did not get the money for the contractors, and Mr. Miller asked that some action be taken. He stated that he was not only speaking for his firm, but that all the other contractors were in the same box and wanted their money.

Mr. Claflin of the same firm was also present, and seconded the demands of his partner.

During this discussion Mr. Miller and Auditor Walker became engaged in a wordy altercation that was very warm and personal, but nobody was hurt except in feeling, perhaps.

Mr. Coleman finally moved that the auditor be instructed to advertise the intersection bonds that he has ready, and after more discussion this motion prevailed.

* * *

The street committee had a more peaceful session, but transacted considerable business.

A resolution was approved to widen and straighten Scottwood avenue from Monroe street to Woodruff.

An ordinance to turnpike St. Louis street from Starr avenue to French street was approved.

An ordinance was approved to vacate part of Griffin street from Western avenue to the line of Ann street extended.

An ordinance was approved to turnpike Lane avenue from Smead avenue to Sylvan avenue.

A remonstrance was presented from property owners on Bay street, Ironville, against the opening of that street from Gleason street to the River road. The street is to be opened for about three-quarters of a mile, but this is the last block, running to the river. The matter was laid over.

An ordinance was approved to vacate the end of Superior street at Galena street. This was a mere formality to make the proper legislation for an improvement already finished.

The Dove Lane pavement came up again in the shape of a resolution to confirm the contract with J. C. Wernert for paving with old Medina stone.

Mr. John Streicher objected to this and stated that a majority of the property owners had petitioned for boulder stone. The petition could not be found and the matter was laid over for one week.

An ordinance was approved providing for keeping Fulton street clean and in repair from Ashland avenue to Bancroft street, and appointing Messrs. Birchard A. Hayes and George A. Stockton as commissioners.

An ordinance was approved to establish the grade of Ravine alley.

A communication was presented from property owners on Thirteenth street protesting against the brick being used in the improvement of that street between Lafayette and Illinois. It is a different brick from that used on the rest of the street, and they objected to being experimented upon.

Contractor Claflin stated that this resulted from a misapprehension on the part of the property owners. This brick, he claimed, is better than that used on the other part of the street, and was put in because they had run short of the other material.

Engineer Wickenden stated that there were some things about the brick which he did not like, and at his suggestion the committee decided to visit Thirteenth street this afternoon and take a look at the brick.

* * *

The sewer committee also discussed brick, and had before them a sample taken from the material being used in the Nevada street sewer, East Side. It was a very poor brick and full of lime, similar to those mentioned in the Bee some time ago as being used in this same sewer. There has been considerable complaint from property owners on the brick being used.

City Engineer Wickenden stated that the inspector on the work had orders to cull all bad brick from the material used in the work, and that considerable had been taken out.

Some of the members of the committee did not think that the inspector was doing his work properly, but Mr. Wickenden thought that he was.

Messrs. Walker, Neuendorf and Gill were appointed a sub-committee to investigate the sewer.

* * *

The railroad committee also had a lively time, consisting of a tilt between the two street railway companies. Mr. Lang presented and asked the committee to approve an amendment to the street railway ordinance passed November 25, 1889. This amendment repeals section 3 and omits the provision prohibiting more than one set of wires over the street, also granting permission for any company putting up another trolley wire to use existing poles and span wires.

Mr. Lang recited part of the history of the trouble they had had in court, then as a reason for the council to approve this amendment told of the decision of the circuit court recently delivered, in which the court found the system of two trolley wires in the street as feasible. He stated that the Consolidated desired to erect another trolley wire and make the trial as suggested by the circuit court, but as soon as the circuit court decision had been given the Robisons immediately obtained another injunction from the common pleas court based on this ordinance.

Messrs. James and Will Robison were both present and objected to the amendment proposed by Mr. Lang.

This resulted in considerable heated discussion between the representatives of the two street railway companies, and both made numerous propositions and bluffs which they knew the other side would not take up.

After about 20 minutes of this the committee laid the matter over to await the results of the conference committee, which has been appointed by both council boards.

The gas committee discussed illuminating matters and added Mr. Macomber to the sub-committee which is investigating the books of the Toledo Gas Light and Coke company. The committee decided to meet again on Friday evening, the 30th, and receive a report from the sub-committee.

GAS EXTENSIONS

Parks Foster & Co. Will Make Connections—Manufacturers Will Have to Put In Meters.

Trustees Brown, Jones and Greene were the three members of the gas board present at last evening's meeting. The board in entering into a contract with Parks, Foster & Co. to make all connections in districts 3 and 7 and in giving the Toledo Press club gas at a nominal price did two very good and wise things. The department is 1,600 contracts ahead of connections made, and the action of last night will remove the pressure greatly.

The committee on city plant reported a contract with Wm. McMahon for laying pipe as ordered at the previous meeting.

Mr. Brown questioned the correctness of the form of contract, and at his suggestion an amendment was made and the contract confirmed and ordered executed.

The committee also reported for approval a contract with Kerlin Bros., and at the suggestion of Dr. Jones confirmation was postponed.

A number of lines were ordered laid in the following streets:

Erie, 120 feet south.
Broadway, Field to Walbridge avenue.
John, Union to Canton.
Elm, Crane Lane to Erie.
Thirteenth, Washington 35 feet north.
Lorain, Newberry 530 feet north and 600 south.
Broadway, Crittenden to Western avenue.
Lagrange, Bancroft 60 feet south.
Dove Lane, Lagrange 235 feet west.
Ralph, Wayne to Railroad avenue.
George, Locust to Walnut.
Alley between St. Clair and Oliver from St. Clair street school to Logan.

A proposition to drill wells was referred.

The committee on claims reported bills amounting to $688, and the same was ordered paid.

A petition for a line on Woodville street was granted, and the line ordered laid when the amount necessary to construct was paid in.

The Press club, through a committee, petitioned for gas and asked that some concessions be made, inasmuch as the club was considerable of an educational institution and somewhat of a religious teacher. It was therefore entitled to the advantages given those institutions.

Mr. Brown moved that the club be furnished gas at 6 cents and given a meter free. The club was entitled to all the advantages possible.

Mr. Greene seconded the motion, and said he would like to do even better by the club.

Dr. Jones moved that gas be furnished free if the club paid the expenses of putting in connections.

Mr. Brown withdrew his motion and seconded that of Dr. Jones, and the motion went through unanimously.

The final estimate of Kerlin Bros. for work done in district No. 9, amounting to $11,000, was presented.

Receipts amounting to $3,100 since last meeting were reported.

Lines were ordered laid in the following streets:

Forrer, Lenk 260 feet west.
Sixteenth, Jefferson to Madison.
Erie, Magnolia to Bush.
Anna, Western avenue to Curtis street.
Floyd, Horton to Ashland avenue.
Adams, Seventeenth 80 feet west.
Ostrich Lane, Locust to Lagrange.

On the matter of supplying big concerns, Mr. Brown said the board would be held guilty of gross mismanagement if it continued to supply gas at 1 cent and 1 1-2 cents a thousand when 8 cents could be secured, and offers of even 12, 15 and 20 cents were being received.

Mr. Greene moved that the resolution of a previous meeting requiring all consumers on high pressure lines to use meters be enforced, and that consumers be given such notification by noon tomorrow. It was carried.

The Toledo Electric Light company requested a larger line for the reason that the present line was too small. It must have a better supply or discontinue the use of gas. The matter was referred to the manager with authority to construct the line when the company agreed to use a meter at 8 cents.

RICH MINES.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 16.—The Minneapolis owners of the Palisade mine in Port Arthur district claim to have struck it rich. Two samples of the ore have shown $218 to $280 a ton, against about $80 for the best Nevada and Montana mines. It is claimed the mine is worth about $11,000,000.

TO MARKET THE STOCK

A Good Chance for Somebody to Plunge.

The Ruby and Sapphire Company of Montana.

All London Is Agitated Over the American Mines—What the Census Has to Say on the Subject.

Washington, Oct. 16.—The Sapphire and Ruby company, of Montana, proposes placing $2,250,000 of stock in London, the proceeds to be used in purchasing 4,000 acres of land along the Missouri river, near Helena. The scheme, as told in the cable, is creating a great flutter. But London remembers how millionaires literally climbed over each other when stock in the Burmah ruby mines was sold. So they are more deliberate this time.

It is said that the opinion of the governor of Montana will be secured before a syndicate invests. E. W. Streeter declares that with the exception of the South African diamond fields, this is the most important discovery of modern times.

Little is probably known, even in this country, of these Montana deposits. George Frederick Kunz, an expert with Tiffany & Co., a special agent of the census bureau in the department of precious stones, made a personal inspection of the territory. Said he yesterday:

"The only locality in this country which has been at all prolific of sapphires is the six or seven miles of placer ground between Ruby and Eldorado Bars on the Missouri river, 16 miles east of Helena, Mon. Here sapphires are found in glacial auriferous gravels while sluicing for gold, and until now have been considered only a by product. Up to the present time they have never been systematically mined. In 1889 one company took the option on 4,000 acres of the river banks, and several smaller companies have since been formed with a view of mining for these gems alone or in connection with gold. The colors of the gems obtained, although beautiful and interesting, are not the standard blue or red shades generally demanded by the public.

"The stones embrace a great variety of the lighter shades of red, yellow, blue and green. The latter color is found quite pronounced, being rather a blue green than an emerald green. Nearly all the stones, when finely cut, have an apparent metallic lustre which is strikingly peculiar to those from this locality. Neither red rubies nor true-blue sapphires have yet been found.

"These gems were most abundant at Eldorado Bar, where one to two pounds a day were once collected. Some of these have been cut, and one very perfect stone of 3 1-2 carats and of good green color, almost equal to the best Oriental emerald, has been obtained.

The Montana specimens rarely exceed one-quarter inch to one-half inch in length. They are brilliant, but usually of pale tints. Two gems are in the Amherst college collection which weigh about one-eighth of a carat each. One is a true ruby red and the other a sapphire blue, colors rarely met with there. The gems are usually of a light green, greenish blue, bluish red, light red and the intermediate shades."

Mr. Kunz says that stones not of the standard colors are called "fancy colored." Fine stones are worth from $50 to $100 per carat, but he said he could place no price on the fancy colored, which are much cheaper. "Tiffany & Co.," he continued, "have not sold or seen a true red ruby or a true blue sapphire from Montana, but they have seen interesting fancy colors, the sale of which is very limited, compared with the standard."

Mr. Kunz declined to estimate the value of the Montana bars. "I think such men as ex-Gov. Hauser or N. B. Holter, who own several thousand acres of these bars, would give the most valuable opinion of them," he said. "They are not being worked to any extent now, and there seems to be little enthusiasm among the people of Helena about them.

"The whole question is, How much gold can be washed out of the deposits? for I understand in the London proposition gold is to be the paying product, while the gems will be a profit as a by-product.

"The value of the 35,000 carats of gems in London depends entirely on their size and color. It is impossible to estimate without seeing them."

DEPARTMENT OF DAKOTA.

Brig.-Gen. Wesley Merritt Makes His Report.

The Canteen System a Success—Interior Department Working Against Indian Enlistment.

Washington, Oct. 16.—Brig. Gen. Wesley Merritt, commanding the department of Dakota, says in his annual report that recruiting Indians for the United States army, which has heretofore progressed satisfactorily, is now seriously interrupted by the action of the Indian bureau at Washington. He says:

"The reduction of rations by the Indian department is said to be in direct violation of the authorized statements made by recruiting officers—that is 'that the absence of an Indian from his tribe and reservation in consequence of his enlistment is not a severance of his tribal connection, and he would thereby in no sense forfeit his right to lands, annuities and benefits granted his tribe by law or treaty.'"

Gen. Merritt asks that these matters be righted, and that the Indian recruits shall also receive rations as though he were not in the army.

Desertions among the soldiers, he says, has decreased almost 50 per cent.

The canteen system is reported as in successful operation in his department. The decrease in means of transportation, he says, while the troops are in good condition, would not make them effective in case of an Indian war, which, however, he does not now apprehend.

THE IRISH WAR GOES ON.

Healy Addressed a Meeting at Caven.

The National Federation Discusses the Manner in Which Affairs Should Be Conducted.

Dublin, Oct. 16.—A convention of the Irish National federation was held at Caven yesterday. There were numerous priests among the delegates. The meeting was presided over by Timothy M. Healy, the member of parliament for North Longford.

In his preliminary address he said that the members of the Irish national party are not concerned with eulogies over the dead but the interests of the living. Let the dead past bury its dead. Mr. Parnell had gone to his account, and those honoring his services to the nation thought that the best memorial would be to push on the work upon which he was engaged before the clouds intervened between his vision and the best goal of Ireland.

Her real sons were not afraid to face public clamor. Whatever happened he would never apologize for doing what he could against Parnell when he found that the country's interest demanded Parnell to retire from the leadership of the majority.

He hoped that dissensions would be interred in his grave. The note for renewed war came from the minority, and not from them. The majority continued to be willing to overlook the acts and calumnies of their opponents, because they were not figuring on personal questions, but national ones.

If Mr. Parnell knew where he was going in opposing the majority, these men did not, nor did they know the forces they were unloosing or the consequence of their action upon the destinies of their country. They said: "We can not shake hands with you."

They never seemed to contemplate the feelings of those offering to shake hands with them. We might be like those starving American trappers who, you remember, "could eat crow, but did not hanker after it." If the minority felt unable to co-operate with us, let them resign their seats, giving way to men who are open for reunion.

Ireland had given them no mandate to perpetuate feud. Their position was degrading, not only as defying the constituencies of Ireland, but in the fact that they had not even the prostitutes' shame, because they gloried in their infamy.

Their party consisted of knaves and fools, for these men declare that they despised Dillon and O'Brien. So stupendous was their audacity that he really began to wonder where they were standing.

He hoped that O'Brien would now publish to the world the whole story of the Boulogne negotiations. If the letters and repeated declarations of Redmond and Harrington, now the drill sergeants of dissension, were published, he promised such an exposure as probably has never been known in Ireland.

He could forgive Parnell; indeed, he believed he had already forgiven him (cheers). But these men, pretending to be his political heirs and executors, had not the excuse of Parnell. They were acting solely in the interests of Dublin castle and the Orange lodges, whom the people hoped to cast out as ulcers on the body politic.

The Eighth Day's Session of the Ecumenical Congress Will Go Down in History as Its Most Sensational.

Washington, Oct. 16.—The eighth day's session of the Ecumenical Methodist conference was devoted to the subject of Romanism.

Rev. J. Donnelly, of Newry, Ireland, Irish Methodist church, presided.

The essay of the morning was read by Rev. M. T. Myers, of Rochdale, Eng., president of the United Methodist Free church on the present position of Romanism.

He spoke of the strength of Romanism in England a half a century ago and said with the exception of a few persons in Ireland no one cared for Romanism in Great Britian.

Romanism of late years, he said, had put on airs and to-day its adherents boast of nobility in their midst. The speaker divided Roman church people into four classes.

The first, he said, was the upper class of which the Romanists had received a large contingent and the fourth was the general class, that they boasted of receiving by the thousands. The second or middle class, the emissaries of Rome confessed they have made no impression whatever upon; the third class, the respectable artisans and those who are largely the strength of nations, Rome had never touched. It possesses no influence with them, the genius of Methodism being better adapted to them.

Mr. Myers spoke of education as likely to be the battle ground between the two sides. The schools of England, he said, would have been all right but for the saceroditalism of Cardinal Manning.

By invitation an address was delivered by Rev. R. L. Fiske, of Albion, Mich., Methodist Episcopal church, on Romanism as a political power. He said that Romanism was an evolution in which the spiritual gives way to ambition and the result was politics. If the Romanist, he said, claimed the right to dictate to the government, he defiled his garments. The church of Rome was to be judged by her history. She had been one of the greatest political powers, she had claimed the right to veto civil rights; had held the crown of monarchs in her hand and brought secular power under the influence of the pope. By political influence she had gotten posession of property and had been persistent in setting apart state funds for her parochial schools.

Ecclesiastically, he said, the pope was the church. Nothing on the face of the earth was so arbitrary as Romanism. The entire priesthood was bound to the pope and he controlled the people by assumed authority at the confessional. He said the pulse of Romanism as a political power had fallen in Europe.

Another address was made by Rev. Wm. Nichols, of Dublin, Ireland, Irish Methodist church, on Romanism as a religious power. He said there were many gross and corrupt teachings of the Church of Rome and he referred to what he called its contradictory ecclesiastical miracles.

He said Romanism was a religious power with many, but was gross and corrupt in moral practice. The idea of Romanish morality was incorrect. The Church of Rome taught immorality the end to sanctify the means. The Church of Rome, he said, tried to extend itself by getting into families by domestics and governesses teaching the religion to the young.

The speaker also dwelt on other means of Rome to strengthen its church, which, he said, was further morally corrupt by teaching ceremonial law above moral law. The church swayed thousands by its grandeur of architecture and music. Parts of her worship were so pompous and formal that spiritual religion became impossible.

He said she exalted the priests who represents the bishop and the bishop the pope who he heard a high Catholic say was the living representative on earth of Jesus Christ. He said he did not deny that the Roman church had done some good work.

In conclusion he said that on the whole the influence of the Church of Rome had been for the evil of the human race.

CHRONIC CATARRH.

History of a Case That Needs No Comment.

What Has Been Done Can Be Done Again.

The efficacy of Pe-ru-na in the cure of Chronic Catarrh of long standing can not be told in greater eloquence or more convincing argument than by simply making extracts from letters received from grateful patients. The following interesting extracts from a correspondence with Mr. Peter Hattenberger, of Porterfield, Wis., tell their own story:

PORTERFIELD, WIS., Aug. 1, 1890.

Dr. S. B. Hartman—Dear Sir: I have been suffering with chronic catarrh about nine years, and it has now settled on my lungs and I have all the symptoms of consumption.

August 19, 1890.

I have taken the Pe-ru-na now for three weeks as you advised, and I feel a great deal better. The cough has nearly left me and my appetite is getting better every day, and my sallow complexion is almost gone and my skin is getting white. The catarrh in my head still troubles me so much that I get almost crazy.

September 11, 1890.

I am improving very fast now. The cough is gone and the catarrh is commencing to leave my head and throat.

December 18, 1890.

I am still following your advice, and am getting along well.

February 12, 1891.

I am still improving in every way. The catarrh is leaving my head and throat.

April 27, 1891.

I am still using your medicine. My health is improving right along, my appetite is good, and I feel better than I have in five or six years.

August 28, 1891.

I am rid of the catarrh now, and feel perfectly well and happy. You are at liberty to publish my case for the benefit of others, and if there is any one who has any doubt about your medicine curing catarrh let them write me and I will be very glad to answer them. God bless you and yours.

PETER HATTENBERGER,
Porterfield, Wis.

It is to Pe-ru-na that he owes his life and health which he enjoys to-day, without the shadow of a doubt. Thousands of similar cases are occuring every year. Pe-ru-na rarely fails to cure any catarrhal affections of the head, throat or lungs, from the slightest cold to the most pronounced type of catarrhal consumption. Directions for use accompany each bottle.

For a complete treatise as to the use of Pe-ru-na in the various stages, varieties and complications of catarrh, send at once for a copy of The Family Physician No. 2. Sent free to any address by The Peruna Medicine Company, Columbus, Ohio.

MET DEATH AT THEIR DUTY

Three Newspaper Men Killed in Illinois.

They Were Riding on an Engine in Order to Fill an Assignment Which Proved Fatal.

Crete, Ill., Oct. 16.—Two reporters of the Chicago Inter-Ocean named Washburne and Henry, and McCafferty, the special artist of that paper were instantly killed here. The two latter had been assigned to write an article upon a midnight railroad ride on the Chicago & Eastern Illinois road.

Washburne was returning from his vacation to act as best man at the wedding of another member of the Inter-Ocean staff. The three men, with General Passenger Agent Stone, were riding upon the locomotive. Stone left them to go into the dining car and a moment later the train struck a misplaced switch and the locomotive plunged through an engine house. The engineer and fireman jumped and saved themselves, but the three newspaper men were killed.

THE BEE'S CARRIERS.

Happy Set of Energetic and Pushing Youngsters,

Whose Efforts are Not Always Appreciated.

Some of the Little (and Big) Fellows—Newsboys in the Best of Society, and Others From Lower Walks.

An important part of the Bee's great institution are carriers and newsboys who sell the papers and leave them at your door every evening in fair weather or foul. As one of the youngsters said: "If it wasn't for us kids, wot sells de papers, youse fellers wouldn't be no good." In many newspapers the boys who so faithfully distribute the printed sheets are neglected and their accommodations about he office are very inferior.

In the new Bee building, however, the boys are well looked after, and every accommodation is furnished to facilitate them in their business.

The carriers' room is a large, light and airy apartment in the front basement, with outside stairs leading down from the street, and also a door connecting it with the other part of the basement.

A fact that is not generally known is that the carriers buy their papers every day, paying cash therefore, collecting their pay at the end of the week. Those who sell on the street do the same and receive more immediate returns, providing their papers are sold.

The boys first present themselves at a window and pay for the papers, receiving round brass checks, which are taken at the door in exchange for the papers. After receiving the checks the boys form in line and present themselves at the paper window in proper turn.

Oftentimes there will be from one hundred to two hundred in the room, and then the scene is a lively one in the extreme, as the youngsters are priviliged to do pretty much as they please, and each one seems to be trying to make the most noise. These boys are a faithful lot, however, and it is seldom that a paper is missed.

Among the boys who carry regular routes are many from 15 to 20 years old, of respectable families and regular attendants of the high school. Most of these lads carry a large number of papers, and make a neat sum each week, some of them earning more in this way out of school hours, than many young men do at regular situations.

To the observer who peeps into the lively paper room the youngsters are the most interesting spectacle, and among them can be found many characters worth studying.

The boys run in all kinds, sizes and conditions. Some never sported the luxury of a pair of shoes or a haircomb, while others are something of dandies and ride to the office on horseback or bicycles. Whatever their position they are happy, and to them their little worlds wag merrily on while they play pedro, mumble the peg and noseys, and wait for their papers. They sport all sorts of non de plumes, such as Swipes, Whiskers, Nosey, Silly, Foolish, Cotton Top, Sloppy, Skinny, Hop Toad, Modoc, Reddie, and the like.

The boys didn't like the idea of being interviewed, and it took considerable diplomacy to mold most of them to a conversational mood. Money is the magic sesame that opens their portals of speech, however, and so money was applied—to the floor—where many in the mob rolled, squirmed, struggled, squeezed, wrestled and contorted itself into a thousand shapes and combinations until on all the pennies had been set the seal of possession, and internal struggles and disputes had been settled. Generally the smaller boys were the most successful in this struggle for sordid gain.

Finally, after repeated applications of this monetary salve, the youngsters were sufficiently thawed out to answer a few questions about themselves, while those who were not being interviewed stood about and guyed those who were.

"I say, young man, what's your name?" was addressed a pleasant sort of a boy of about 12 years.

"Johnnie Johnson," was the answer.

"And how long have you sold papers?"

"Seven years, if you please."

"He's giving you a fairy story, mister; he ain't been in the business only three years," said a freckle-faced, pug-nosed, bare-footed youth in the back ground.

"What do you do with your money, Johnnie?"

"Why, he blows it, of course; what do you suppose?" again chimed in the gentleman of the second part. "He saves it up and den goes on a sport; what's it for, anyhow?"

Finally the interview ended by Johnnie adding that he made considerable money which he gave to his mother, an act of foolhardiness that the pug-nosed boy treated with the utmost contempt.

Chris Schuster said he made about 25 cents a day. He spent a nickel and put the rest away for a rainy day. He figured on going a railroad man when he grew up, but didn't think he was saving enough, and expected that he'd have to stop spending that nickel and put it away also.

Most of the boys went to school, they said, and then selling papers was a sort of a secondary business.

Willie Luddington, a 13-year-old lad, clothed himself with the money he made and attended the Erie street school, where he was in the "high fifth." Lawrence Ricard and Carl Boller, aged 9 and 10 years respectively, both attended the Sherman street school, and Ed Raddatz, 13 years of age, was absorbing knowledge at the Broadway in the fourth reader.

Danny Shea is a lively, barefooted lad of 12 years, and stopped a game of pedro under the steps to be interviewed. He is what is known as a "seller," and has been handling papers for five years. He don't go to school, but says he lives with his parents on Woodruff avenue and saves his money. "On I kin lick any kid o' my size, see?" he said.

Harry Burnside, aged 13, has been a seller for two years, lives on Fitch street, and goes to the Erie street school. He was Danny Shea's opponent in the aforesaid game of pedro. "We's sports," said he.

Herman Keller, aged 9, is a seller. He lives on Page street and goes to the Orange street school.

Adolph Saelzer has been carrying a route for a year. He is 11 years old and lives on Bancroft street.

Herman Fels has been selling on the street for nearly two years, is 12 years old, lives on Ontario street, and goes to the Erie street school.

Little Harvey Gaffer is one of the brightest and liveliest of the barefooted youngsters. He sells on the street, and lives on the corner of Williams and Wade streets. Harvey showed his energy and enterprise in the scramble for pennies by capturing two out of three. He says he can make 50 cents a night.

Harry Davis, a bright boy of 13 years, said he could make 50 cents a day at his business. John O'Neil also made a good sum daily and spent it all, for, says he, logically, "what else can you do with it?" Ed Miller carried, but didn't expect to get rich at it, however, Micawber like, he was waiting for something to turn up.

Willie Barrow, of 11 summers and about the same number of hard winters, was also in the business for keeps. Willie Johnson, a bright-faced boy of 7, gave all his money to his mother, and, although young in years, was a sturdy support on which, in time to come, a mother can lean and rest from the cares that crowd in upon advancing years.

Fred Schroeder, aged 10, has been a seller for two years, lives on Michigan street, and goes to the Erie street school.

Charlie Odell, living on Peck street, is a seller, aged 13, and goes to school at Glassboro.

George Green, of Seneca street, is 12 years old, don't go to school, and has been carrying about a year.

Albert Price is 9 years old and carries a route. He lives on Speilbusch evenue and goes to school at Erie street.

Michael Sullivan is a carrier, 12 years old, and has a route of 43 papers. He has been in the paper business about four years, lives on Peck street, and goes to school at Dr. Quigley's.

Harry Kessler, aged 13, has been a carrier for a year. He lives at 2206 Locust street, and goes to the Erie street school.

Harry Saltzgaber is a bright, neat looking little fellow, aged 11. He lives at 428 Summit street, and attends the Erie street school.

Peter McNamee, 10 years old, lives at 524 Orange street and attends St. Francis de Sales school. He is a carrier and says he is getting rich.

Harvey Morgan, aged 13, lives at 617 Erie street, attending Erie school. He is a carrier and gives his money to his mother.

Clarence Eckhardt is one of the big boys, lives at 718 Utica street, and is 15 years old, attending the Jefferson street school. He has been a carrier for about a year.

Herman Goos, living at the corner of Canton avenue and Beacon street, is a carrier. He is 14 years old and goes to school at Erie street.

Harry Kessler, No. 2, is 11 years old, lives at 222 Grove street, and also attends the Erie school.

Walter Barnes, aged 14, lives at the corner of Lagrange street and Moore. He does not go to school and has been selling papers for three years. He is a thrifty youth and puts his money in a nickel savings bank.

Willie Kiep is a shy youngster, and it took a bribe of a cent to get him to talk. He lives at 216 Walnut street, is 9 years old and has been carrying five years; he says he spends his money. Sherman school numbers him on its enrollment.

George Weiner is a carrier, 12 years old and lives at 620 John street. He has been handling papers two years and takes his money home. George attends the German Catholic school on Orange street.

Ed Manton, aged 15, has been a carrier three years and carries 35 papers. He lives on Indiana avenue, attending the Illinois school.

Charles Wesley, age 16, carries 57 papers, and has been at it six years. He lives on Collingwood avenue, and is a member of the Junior High school.

Rollie Eldred has been a carrier nearly three years. He is 13 years old, lives at 909 Dorr street, and attends the Washington street school.

John Moylan, of 361 Nebraska avenue, has been a carrier six years. He is 14 years old and attends the High school.

Fred Halford, carries a route and gives his money to his mother. He has been at it for three years and is 13 years old. His home is at 1050 Oak street, and he attends the Jefferson street school.

Fred Darling, 12 years old, carries 41 papers, lives at 332 Twelfth street, attends Jefferson street school and saves his money.

Dan Steinberg, has carried papers for two years and is 12 years old; lives at 380 Wisconsin street and attends the Illinois school. He buys clothes with his money.

Bert Bailey, another carrier, also buys clothes with his money and has a route of 60 papers. He is 12 years old, lives on Prescott street, and attends Warren school.

Willie Morrow, 12 years old, lives on Detroit avenue; attends Hoag school and has been a carrier for a year and a half.

Ed Guitteau, Putnam street, is 18 years old, carries 65 papers, and is a member of the middle class of the High school.

OLD FORT RECOVERY

Celebrating the One Hundredth Anniversary

Of the Battle of St. Clair—Incidents of the Memorable Campaign.

The story old Fort Recovery, anent the one hundredth anniversary of the great St. Clair battle and massacre, which is being celebrated on the spot this week, is well told by a writer in the Chicago Herald. Wednesday Gov. Campbell was the orator, yesterday Senator Sherman delivered the address and today the bodies of the soldiers who fell in that memorable battle will be removed to the new burial ground. The stirring chapter in history is of sufficient interest to Ohio readers to warrant its reproduction:

By an act of congress of 1781, Arthur St. Clair, governor of the Northwestern territory, was also appointed major general and commander-in-chief of the military forces. An army of 2,000 men, including artillery and cavalry, assembled at Fort Washington and after many delays and disappointments began a march up what was called the Maumee Valley. There was much dissatisfaction among the men because of the mismanagement in the supply of provisions and the furnishing of stores. A small garrison was left at Fort Hamilton, which was established 20 miles north of Cincinnati. Twenty miles further north Fort St. Clair was built, and still further north Fort Jefferson. When they had marched about ninety miles, sixty Kentuckians, disgusted with short rations, slow progress and approaching snowstorms, shouldered their muskets and, defying all authority, commenced their return homeward. Gen. St. Clair, fearing they would stop and plunder the caravan of provision wagons he was expecting, sent a force to pursue the deserters, attack them if necessary, and rescue and protect the wagons. These various operations diminished his forces to 1,400 men. His march through a flat, marshy, densely wooded country was toilsome and difficult. The ax had to be used constantly to open a passage for baggage wagons and artillery. Gov. St. Clair was old and infirm and was suffering severely from the gout, and it indicated a lack of judgment in him to undertake the leadership in so arduous a campaign. On November 3 his army reached a point 125 miles from Fort Washington, their starting place. They were still fifty miles from the Indian towns on the Maumee, which they were on the march to destroy. It was a dismal day, with chill winds, and the soldiers were weary and their boots were soaked with water. Cutting their way through the almost pathless forest, they approached a creek about forty feet wide, which proved to be one of the tributaries of the Wabash. There was a small meadow on the banks of this stream, while the dense forest spread gloomily all around, and here the encampment for the night was made. Gen. St. Clair sent the militia across the creek by a ford as the advance guard of the army.

Bivouacked in Parallel Lines.

They bivouacked in two parallel lines about two hundred feet apart. Skilled in the use of the ax, they speedily cut down trees and roaring fires blazed in the intervening space, illuminating the forest far and wide and enabling both parties to cook their supplies and enjoy the genial warmth. No scouts were sent out, for all were nearly perishing with cold and weariness, and there were no indications whatever that any foe was at hand. But the savages in large numbers were in the forest watching every movement and selecting their position, every man behind a tree, from which, unseen, the bullet could be sent with unerring aim upon their foe, grouped together without any shelter. Upon the other side of the creek the regulars were stationed in the same way, drawn up in two lines with their camp fires between. They also cut down trees and gathered around the fire that revealed their every movement to the foe. It would seem that if the chief had directed Gen. St. Clair how to post his troops so as to secure their destruction, the work could not have been more effectually done. The night passed quietly, but during its hours, unseen and unheard, as with the silent tread of the panther, the Indians were making their preparations for the slaughter. It was afterward ascertained that they were actually making themselves merry over the folly of the white men in thus exposing themselves to certain destruction. Just at dawn, as the militiamen on the farther side of the creek in thoughtless confusion were preparing breakfast, a thousand savage yells and the report of musketry fell upon their ears. There was a deadly discharge of bullets, hardly one of which missed its mark. The panic-stricken militiamen fled, many of them not stopping to pick up their guns. They plunged through the creek and were stopped, a tumultuous, helpless mass, by the lines on the other side. In fifteen minutes after the attack the little army, now consisting of less than a thousand men, was huddled together in terror-stricken confusion and exposed to a deadly fire from every direction. No foe was to be seen, except when here and there a warrior darted from the protection of one gigantic tree to another. There was no room for courage, for bravery, save to meet death without a tremor. There was no room for heroism save to charge upon an invisible foe. Col. Drake, in command of the second line of regulars, succeeded in forming his line, and charged into the forest, when the wary Indians in that portion of the circumference retired before him, while a storm of bullets from all around rapidly struck down his men. A party of Indian sharp-shooters attacked the artillerymen, and in a short time every man at the guns was shot down.

One-half the Army Killed.

In half an hour one-half of the men of the army were killed or wounded and nearly every horse was shot. The officers soon saw it was useless to fight the Indians in their secluded positions and a rapid retreat was made to an open road and flight was kept up until Fort Jefferson, 30 miles from the battlefield was reached. The Indians killed over 900 of St. Clair's army, took seven pieces of cannon, 200 oxen, a great number of horses, but no prisoners, as the wounded on the field were tomahawked and scalped. The Indians lost 66 warriors. Gen. St. Clair showed great bravery throughout the battle. Eight bullets passed through his clothes and hat and three horses were shot from under him. In his official account of the disaster he writes: "I have nothing to lay to the charge of the troops, but their want of discipline, which, from the short time they had been in service, it was impossible they should have acquired, and which rendered it difficult when they were thrown into confusion to reduce them again to order; and is one reason why the loss has fallen so heavily upon the officers, who did everything in their power to effect it. Neither were my own exertions wanting. But worn down with illness, and suffering under a painful disease, unable to mount or dismount without assistance, they were not so great as they would or perhaps ought to have been." The return of the routed army spread consternation among the people, many of whom thought it best to relinquish all the country north of the Ohio to the Indians and make that river the northern boundary of the United States, as the Indians coached by British allies, insisted it should be. A few weeks after the great defeat Gen. Scott ascertained by scouts that a few miles from the fatal spot the Indians were rioting over the plunder they had taken and were dancing and singing, feasting and with great merriment were riding the bullocks they had taken. The general, by forced marches, advanced to attack the Indians by surprise. The expedition was a complete success. He fell furiously upon them, killed 206 of their number, recovered the cannon and much of the remaining stores. Gen. Scott's loss was six men. Gen. Anthony Wayne, who succeeded Gen. St. Clair, erected defensive works on the battlefield where the latter was routed. One of the soldiers of his army, which reached the spot on Christmas day, 1793, wrote as follows: "When the men went to lie down in their beds at night they had to scrape the bones together and carry them out that they might make their beds. The next day holes were dug and the bones remaining above ground were buried. Six hundred skulls were found among them. The flesh was entirely off the bones, and in many cases the sinews yet held them together. After this melancholy duty was performed a fortification was built and named Fort Recovery, in commemoration of its being recovered from the Indians, who had possession of the ground in 1791."

THE INVISIBLE ARMY.

From the earlist period, the idea has prevailed of a mysterious, unseen enemy to the human race warring perpetually against health and life. In the days when superstition reigned supreme, this enemy was held to be evil spirits with which the atmosphere was supposed at all times to swarm.

Relief was sought, therefore, through charms, incantations and propitiatory offerings. Under the influence of civilization this theory has disappeared, and with the light of modern science this invisible army and enemy has been exposed to view—a mighty host indeed, which no man can number. This army is composed of Micro-organisms, or microbes. They are among the most minute bodies made visible by the microscope, but their increase is so rapid that unless checked by want of nutriment, they would in a few years take possession of the whole earth, to the exclusion of all other life.

A large proportion of this army is harmless, the poisonous part of it being distinguished as Pathogenic Microbes.

Some conception of the ravages of this mighty army of pathogenic microbes may be had from the general statement, that they are "the cause of four fifths of all the diseases of the human family—that they destroy more lives than war, famine, fire, murder and shipwreck combined—and that they actually abbreviate the average term of human life by three fourths." This army is divided into many sections, each formed of separate and distinct species, their manner of attack being various. They obtain access to the blood through the skin, through the air we breathe, the water we drink, and through inoculation.

But there is still another method of attack, namely: the dissemination through the circulation of the blood, of deadly poisons. These products of the pathogenic microbes, called ptomaines, tend not only to destroy the life of the person infected, but result finally in the destruction of the microbes which produce them. This accounts for the self-limitation of infectious diseases when not fatal, such as measles, small-pox, etc.

There are diseases, however, such as Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison, and their results and sequences, the limitation of which has hardly yet been fixed. The old treatment of mercury and potash would at best only hold the symptoms of these diseases in check, hoping that the pathogenic microbes might be destroyed by their own virus. This may happen in a term of years, but in the meantime the treatment kills both the microbe and the patient.

S.S.S. has for sixty years been forcing out these pathogenic microbes from the blood, through the pores of the skin, thus curing the disease, and at the same time building up the general health of the patient. When SWIFT'S SPECIFIC enters the blood, the pathogenic microbes take their departure through the pores of the skin, the poison is eliminated, and the patient is well. That the germs of these diseases are expelled from the body through the pores of the skin, there can be no sort of doubt, as it has been demonstrated and settled beyond controversy by distinguished micrologists, and as S. S. S. acts directly through the skin, there can be no doubt of the way in which it has cured thousands, and is destined to cure millions yet unborn.

We will mail our Treatise on the Blood to all applicants, FREE.

TOLEDO, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 28.

Consultation and Examination Free and Strictly Confidential in the Private Parlor of the Burnett House, from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m., one day only.

The France Medical and Surgical Institute of Columbus, Ohio, is the only Medical Institute in the state incorporated with a capital of $300,000.

FRANCE MEDICAL AND SURGICAL INSTITUTE,

38 & 40 W. Gay St., one block N. of State House, Columbus, O. Incorporated, 1886. Capital, $300,000.

DRS. FRANCE AND OTTMAN, of New York, the well known and successful Specialists in Chronic Diseases and Diseases of the Eye and Ear, on account of their large practice in Ohio, have established the FRANCE MEDICAL INSTITUTE, where all forms of Chronic, Nervous and Private Diseases will be successfully treated on the most Scientific principles. They are ably assisted by a full corps of eminent Physicians and Surgeons, each one being a well known specialist in his profession.

CANCER positively cured without pain or use of the knife, by a new method.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES.—DR. FRANCE, after years of experience, has discovered the greatest cure known for all diseases peculiar to the sex. Female diseases positively cured by the new remedy, OLIVE BLOSSOM. The cure is effected by home treatment. Entirely harmless and easily applied. Consultation Free and Strictly Confidential. Correspondence promptly answered.

YOUNG MEN—Who have become victims of solitary vice, that dreadful and destructive habit, which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of exalted talent and brilliant intellect, may call with confidence.

DRS. FRANCE AND OTTMAN, after years of experience, have discovered the greatest cure known for weakness in the back and limbs, involuntary discharges, impotency, general debility, nervousness, languor, confusion of ideas, palpitation of the heart, timidity, trembling, dimness of sight, or giddiness, diseases of the head, throat, nose, or skin, affections of the liver, lungs, stomach, or bowels—those terrible disorders arising from the solitary vice of youth—and secret practices, blighting their most radiant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage impossible. Take one candid thought before it is too late. A week or month may place your case beyond the reach of hope. Our method of treatment will speedily and permanently cure the most obstinate case, and absolutely restore perfect manhood.

TO MIDDLE-AGED MEN.—There are many from the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight burning or smarting sensation, weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examination of the urinary deposits, a ropy sediment will be found, or the color will be a thin or milkish hue. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is a second stage of seminal weakness. We will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—We have a special department, thoroughly organized, and devoted exclusively to the treatment of diseases of women. Every case consulting our specialists, whether by letter or in person, is given the most careful and considerate attention. Important cases (and we get few which have not baffled the skill of all the home physicians) have the benefit of a full council of skilled specialists. In treatment of diseases peculiar to females, our success has been marked, over two-thirds of our patients being ladies, old, young, married, single, rich and poor. Our method is entirely free from objectionable features of the general practitioner, namely, "Local treatment." We seldom find it necessary. We prepare remedies, constitutional and local, as the case demands, and instruct ladies how to treat themselves.

MARRIAGE.—Married persons, or young men contemplating marriage, aware of physical weakness, loss of procreative powers, impotency, or any other disqualification, speedily restored.

PRIVATE DISEASES.—Blood Poison, Venereal Taint, Gleet, Stricture, Seminal Emissions, Loss of Sexual Power, Weakness of Sexual Organs, Want of Desire in Male or Female, whether from imprudent habits of youth or sexual habits of mature years, or any cause that debilitates the sexual functions, speedily and permanently cured. Consultation free and strictly confidential. Absolute cures guaranteed. Medicines sent free from observation to all parts of the United States.

EPILEPSY, OR FITS—Positively cured by a new and never-failing method. Testimonials furnished.

FREE EXAMINATION OF THE URINE.—Each person applying for medical treatment should send or bring from 2 to 4 ounces of urine (that passed first in the morning preferred), which will receive a careful chemical and microscopical examination, and if requested a written analysis will be given.

Persons ruined in health by unlearned pretenders, who keep trifling with them month after month, giving poisonous and injurious compounds, should apply immediately. Delays are dangerous.

WONDERFUL CURES Perfected in old cases which have been neglected or unskillfully treated. No experiments or failures. Parties treated by mail or express, but where possible, personal consultation is preferred. Curable cases guaranteed. No risks incurred.

☞ Cases and correspondence confidential. Treatment sent C. O. D. to any part of U. S. List of 130 questions free. Address, with postage, DR. FRANCE, Nos. 38 and 40 W. Gay St., Columbus, O.

Great mounds of sand and oyster shells found upon the seaside in lower Delaware are said to be of Indian origin. The Nanticokes, a tribe that has left its name upon the geography of Pennsylvania at various points, were accustomed at the approach of winter to move southward into lower Delaware, and there to feed all winter long upon fish and oysters. The mounds mark the great camping grounds of the tribe. The Nanticoke, a large river of the peninsula, perpetuates the name of the tribe and strengthens the tradition.

Not so with us since we have announced the arrival of our new assortment of suiting, overcoating and trousering for this fall and winter—we are enjoying a good trade, and we are not at all surprised—considering that we cut and make to your measure a nice suit of cloths from all wool goods for $12.90, better grades at $15, $18 and $20. Our overcoatings are very pretty. Brown and black cheviots at $10, to order. Our Milton's, Kersey's, Beaver chinchilla, overcoating at $15, $18 and $20, to order, are exactly half what other tailors ask. It would also do your heart and purse good to see our trousering, a nice pair of all wool trousers to order for $3, better grades at $4, $5 and $6, if you wish!

We Guarantee a Perfect Fit.

Toledo, O., Oct. 15, 1891.

The committee on ways and means of the Common Council of the city of Toledo, Ohio, and the undersigned, invite sealed proposals at this office to

at 7 o'clock p. m., for the purchase of bridge bonds of the city of Toledo to the amount of fifteen thousand ($15,000) dollars bearing date Sept. 10, 1891, and payable twenty (20) years after date, at the Importers and Traders' National bank in the city of New York, with interest at the rate of four and one-half (4 1-2) per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually at the same place, to be evidenced by coupons to be attached to said bonds.

Said bridge bonds are authorized by an act of the general assembly of the state of Ohio, passed April 29, 1891, entitled "An act to authorize cities of the third grade of the first-class to issue bonds for bridge purposes," and an ordinance of the Common Council of the city of Toledo passed Sept. 21, 1891, which provides for the issue of said bonds.

The denomination of these bonds $500.

The said bonds will be sold at not less than par and accrued interest, to the highest bidder.

Bidders will be required to state the gross amount they will pay for the bonds besides the accrued interest to date of delivery at Toledo, Ohio. They will also be required to deposit with each bid an amount of money or a certified check on some responsible bank equal to at least five (5) per centum of the par value of the bonds, so bid for, as a guarantee of good faith, and that the bid so made (if successful) will be fulfilled in accordance with the terms thereof, and the requirements of the law and ordinances. When the bids have been examined, and the award made according to law, all monies or checks deposited as guarantees shall be returned to the depositor, or held by the city auditor subject to his call except that of the successful bidder, which shall be held and considered, and accepted as part payment of the bonds so awarded or sold, but should there be any repudiation of the contract or agreement, or refusal to accept and pay for the bonds so sold, then and in that case the deposit shall be forfeited to the city of Toledo, and shall become the property of said city, in compensation for loss and expenses attending the sale of said bonds and as liquidated damages for repudiation of bid. And no bid will be received if not accompanied by money or check aforesaid.

Proposals should be addressed to the Auditor of the city of Toledo, Ohio," and be indorsed "Proposals for bridge bonds."
